Clarke, 2017-07-05 First published in 1975 this book compiles a number of studies concerning institutional care and children which address the question of why institutions that serve apparently similar functions differ so much The book uses comparative methods such as measurement of different dimensions of institutional care and analysis of interrelationships among specific structural and functional features which characterise particular institutions As a result the book draws broad conclusions about the importance of factors that have dynamic influence on the manner in which institutions function and the reasons why they differ The editors reject the steampress model which postulates that institutions are more or less alike They discuss ideological and organisational variation differences in staffing and the manner in which children respond to them and consider these issues as factors that influence the way in which an institution functions as a whole Subsequent chapters describe comparative studies carried out in institutions for the mentally handicapped approved schools residential nurseries probation hostels other correctional institutions and units for autistic children The book enables the reader to appreciate achievements and shortcomings of contemporary research and thinking in this field      Education after October 7 Matt Reingold, 2026-02-24 Education after October 7 Essays about Teaching and Learning in the Jewish Diaspora is the first book dedicated to exploring how the October 7 2023 terror attacks affected teaching and learning about Israel in the Jewish diaspora The first three sections of the edited volume bring together quantitative qualitative and ethnographic research conducted at schools and camps by scholars from a diverse set of disciplines These studies consider the perspectives and experiences of learners parents teachers North American and Israeli and camp directors and counsellors to reveal how terror and war necessitated changes in teaching and learning The concluding section of the volume contains three chapters that offer educational models that chart new directions for the future of Jewish and Israel education      America's Child Care Problem Barbara R. Bergmann, Suzanne Wiggins Helburn, Suzanne Wiggins Helburn, 2003-05-30 The revolution in women's lives has created an unprecedented demand for non parental child care and sparked a growing child care industry run by both public and private providers In this book two esteemed economists examine the causes and potential cures of the child care problems that face this country today Writing for policymakers parents and providers alike Suzanne W Helburn and Barbara R Bergmann provide the first in depth look at the child care industry identifying crucial problems such as quality of care and the high cost of even mediocre care Moreover the authors identify sources for change including stronger regulatory procedures on providers and suppliers of care and more government subsidies America's Child Care Problem examines the views of key players in all facets of the child care industry CEOs politicians policy advocates foundation directors child care providers and parents and offers specific advice and guidelines for parents to use when selecting care The book helps parents understand the hidden costs of child care the pros and cons of child care centers versus care by nannies relatives and family run centers and danger signals that indicate a

low quality of child care

Persistent Young Offenders David Loble, David Smith, 2016-05-13 Based on some of the most interesting research of the last ten years this book discusses effective practice in work with persistent young offenders It contrasts two major evaluations of projects for juvenile offenders one of which was successful and the other less so The projects Freagarrach and CueTen were funded by The Scottish Office and the Scottish Executive Freagarrach was evaluated over five years from 1995 and CueTen over three years its entire lifespan from 1996 This book makes the findings of these projects available to a wider readership setting them in a wider discursive framework than is appropriate in a government report The authors identify the factors that made Freagarrach a more successful project than CueTen arguing that an understanding of these factors is important in drawing general conclusions from the experience of the two projects and that this is particularly the case because some of these factors have received little attention in recent discussions of what works in community based programmes for offenders This is a detailed and thorough study of work with juvenile offenders which will be of particular value to those interested in less punitive approaches It will be of interest both to practitioners and to academics in criminology social policy and social work
