Water Wars:

Water Wars Diane Raines Ward, 2003-06-03 Updated with new material Every day we hear alarming news about droughts pollution population growth and climate change which threaten to make water even more than oil the cause of war within our lifetime Diane Raines Ward reaches beyond the headlines to illuminate our most vexing problems and tells the stories of those working to solve them hydrologists politicians engineers and everyday people Based on ten years of research spanning five continents Water Wars offers fresh insight into a subject to which our fate is inextricably bound

Water Wars Vandana Shiva, 2016-07-26 Acclaimed author and award winning scientist and activist Vandana Shiva lucidly details the severity of the global water shortage calling the water crisis the most pervasive most severe and most invisible dimension of the ecological devastation of the earth She sheds light on the activists who are fighting corporate maneuvers to convert the life sustaining resource of water into more gold for the elites and uses her knowledge of science and society to outline the emergence of corporate culture and the historical erosion of communal water rights Using the international water trade and industrial activities such as damming mining and aquafarming as her lens Shiva exposes the destruction of the earth and the disenfranchisement of the world's poor as they are stripped of rights to a precious common good Revealing how many of the most important conflicts of our time most often camouflaged as ethnic wars or religious wars are in fact conflicts over scarce but vital natural resources she calls for a movement to preserve water access for all and offers a blueprint for global resistance based on examples of successful campaigns Featuring a new introduction by the author this edition of Water Wars celebrates the spiritual and traditional role water has played in communities throughout history and warns that water privatization threatens cultures and livelihoods worldwide

The Great Lakes Water Wars Peter Annin, 2009-08-25 The Great Lakes are the largest collection of fresh surface water on earth and more than 40 million Americans and Canadians live in their basin Will we divert water from the Great Lakes causing them to end up like Central Asia's Aral Sea which has lost 90 percent of its surface area and 75 percent of its volume since 1960 Or will we come to see that unregulated water withdrawals are ultimately catastrophic Peter Annin writes a fast paced account of the people and stories behind these upcoming battles Destined to be the definitive story for the general public as well as policymakers The Great Lakes Water Wars is a balanced comprehensive look behind the scenes at the conflicts and compromises that are the past and future of this unique resource

Water Wars Vandana Shiva, 2002 The world's most prominent radical scientist The Guardian Vandana Shiva a world renowned environmentalist and campaigner examines the e water warse tm of the twenty first century the aggressive privatization by the multinationals of communal water rights While drought and desertification are intensifying around the world corporations are aggressively converting free flowing water into bottled profits The water wars of the twenty first century may match or even surpass the oil wars of the twentieth In Water Wars Privatization Pollution and Profit acclaimed author Vandana Shiva sheds light on the activists who are fighting corporate manoeuvres to convert this life sustaining resource into more gold for the elites In Water Wars Shiva uses her remarkable knowledge of science and society to outline the emergence of corporate culture and the historical erosion of communal water rights Using the international water trade and industrial activities such as damming mining and aquafarming as her lens Shiva exposes the destruction of the earth and the disenfranchisement of the world's poor as they are stripped of rights to a precious common good Shiva calls for a movement to preserve water access for all and offers a blueprint for global resistance based on examples of successful campaigns

Water Wars Honey Rand, 2003 Retired Green Beret Steve Monsees stood before the Governing Board He represented neighbors and neighborhoods that believed their lakes were diminished or destroyed because cheap water was needed to fuel growth He was nervous They had all the power He was angry They refused to use their power to protect the environment When he spoke his voice cracked his hands shook but he was determined that they would hear him really hear him and that things would change Water wars are being fought in communities around the United States and world Driven by drought economics and the ongoing pressure of growth the battle for control and protection of water resources will be with us forever This is the story of a dispute over public water supply development and use in west central Florida It's about politics and policy development but it's also about people After years of bitter dispute the local governments and the regional regulator sought a means to move beyond conflict to collaboration

The story describes what people said and did how policy was made and what happens to the people who are trying to make it work

The Water Wars Cameron Stracher,2011-10-01 Welcome to a future where water is more precious than oil or gold Hundreds of millions of people have already died and millions more will soon fall victims of disease hunger and dehydration It is a time of drought and war The rivers have dried up the polar caps have melted and drinkable water is now in the hands of the powerful few There are fines for wasting it and prison sentences for exceeding the quotas But Kai didn't seem to care about any of this He stood in the open road drinking water from a plastic cup then spilled the remaining drops into the dirt He didn't go to school and he traveled with armed guards Kai claimed he knew a secret something the government is keeping from us And then he was gone Vanished in the middle of the night Was he kidnapped Did he flee Is he alive or dead There are no clues only questions And no one can guess the lengths to which they will go to keep him silent We have to find him and the truth before it is too late for all of us

Cochabamba! Oscar Olivera, Tom Lewis,2004 Historically a common trust water is now bought and sold as a private commodity With billions at the mercy of an unrestrained marketplace it is easy to understand why this precious resource is at the center of the international movement working to turn back the rising tide of corporate globalization The triumphant struggle of grassroots activists in Cochabamba Bolivia sounded a significant opening salvo in the water wars In 2001 water warriors there regained control of their water supply and defied all odds by driving out the transnational corporation that had stolen their water in the first place Cochabamba is the story of the first great victory against corporate globalization in Latin America Oscar Olivera a 45 year old machinist who helped shape and lead a movement that brought thousands of ordinary people to the streets powerfully conveys the perspective of a committed participant in a victorious and inspirational rebellion The beloved and highly respected Olivera relates the selling of the city's water supply to Aguas del Tunari a subsidiary of US based Bechtel the subsequent astronomical rise in water prices and the refusal of poverty strapped Bolivians to pay them Olivera brings us to the front lines of a movement chronicling how the people organized an opposition and the dramatic struggles that eventually defeated the privatizers With hard won political savvy Olivera reflects on major themes that emerged from the war over water the fear and isolation that Cochabambinos faced with a spirit of solidarity and mutual aid the challenges of democratically administering the city's water supply and the impact of the water wars on subsequent resistance Oscar Olivera is president of the Cochabamba Federation of Factory Workers and 2001 winner of the prestigious Goldman Environmental Prize Tom Lewis is Latin America editor for the Water and Power William L.
