God in Pain ,2010-09-01 Everyone understands human pain But many Christians have difficulty comprehending God s pain especially God s pain in the death of Christ Is it atonement or child abuse To speak of God in pain says Barbara Brown Taylor is not only to address the biblical stories of Christ s suffering and death but also to proclaim the God who is present in our pain This volume of teaching sermons on suffering presents different approaches to the problem of God in pain In each sermon Taylor speaks with sensitivity and profound insight as she addresses pain and both its human and divine impact

Preaching and Teaching from the Old Testament Walter C. The Teaching Minister ,1991-01-01 With concise and practical guidelines for recovering the identity of the church Clark

Williamson and Ronald Allen demonstrate that the central task of ministry is teaching the Christian faith. The authors believe that how well ministers understand what is required of them and how well they do what is required of them is part of the problem of churches today as well as part of the solution.

The Gospel of Matthew Daniel J. Harrington, 1991. Matthew wrote his Gospel from his perspective as a Jew. It is with sensitivity to this perspective that Father Harrington undertakes this commentary on the Gospel of Matthew. After an introduction he provides a literal translation of each section in Matthew's Gospel and explains the textual problems, philological difficulties, and other matters in the notes. He then presents a literary analysis of each text, content, form, use of sources, structure, examines the text against its Jewish background, situates it in the context of Matthew's debate with other first-century Jews, and reflects on its significance for Christian theology and Christian Jewish relations. Bibliographies direct the reader to other important modern studies.

The New Interpreter's® Handbook of Preaching, 2010-11-01. The New Interpreter's Handbook of Preaching is a major reference tool for preaching with articles on every facet of Christian sermon preparation and delivery. This resource is both scholarly and practical. It focuses on the most distinctive feature and greatest strength of homiletics as a discipline. It is rooted in interdisciplinary scholarship and it develops theory geared to practice. Its theory arises out of the study of both excellent preaching past and present and actual sermon preparation and composition. When theory and practice critique each other, it is possible to produce guidelines that assist greater excellence and economy in preaching the gospel. Excellence in standards is an area in which homiletics needs to grow, and this project will be both a means to encourage and develop it. A guiding question throughout will be: Will it preach? The answers will be offered in the sense that here is something that works well rather than here is something to try. Preachers will turn to this resource with the expectation that they will find scholarly treatment of topics, brief bibliographies of relevant key books and articles, along with practical methodological suggestions for preachers to employ. The contributors are homileticians, preachers, and writers in various disciplines who are committed to the pulpit through practice.

The Teaching of the Christian Year: a Series of Sermons, Etc Patrick Cheyne, 1861. Eight Sermons Preached Before the University of Oxford Edward Bouverie Pusey, 1878. Preaching and Sermon Construction Paul Bertie Bull, 1922.

Preaching to Teach Richard Voelz, 2019-08-06. Preaching to Teach merges the related functions of preaching and teaching and equips the reader to accomplish both. Preachers stand up to speak each week in challenging times to unsettled congregations. Each week seems to bring a new difficult subject: mass shootings and other forms of violence, hard conversations around race, ethnicity, and multi-religious contexts, immigration, poverty, climate change, foreign and domestic terrorism, and bickering about it all on social media. Preachers are hungry for ways to envision the work of preaching in these times, as well as for tools that will help them speak to difficult and contentious topics. In a divided and weary world, preachers struggle with the choice of any number of images to describe their preaching identity. Responding to social crisis after social crisis, preachers most often lean toward the roles of pastor, prophet, or somewhere on the spectrum in between the two.

Juggling between these images and their associated roles on a week to week basis can be exhausting. But there is an ancient image of the preacher that may help the preacher as teacher. The image of teacher has traditionally focused on content and rhetorical aspects of preaching; the preacher is conveying information, modeling theological reasoning, or effecting a certain pulpit style. But rather than focusing on traditional concepts of teaching to determine the content, form, style, or delivery of sermons, the field of critical pedagogy, represented by notable figures such as Paulo Freire, Henry Giroux, Peter McLaren, and bell hooks, offers a way of re-envisioning the preacher as teacher. Recasting the preacher as teacher through the lens of critical pedagogy grounds the image of teacher in an ethical framework, inviting preachers to redefine their public roles, stand in relationships of solidarity with communities of faith, break the silences of taboos, tackle tough issues, and re-imagine the world in the shape of the kingdom of God.

Setting Words on Fire Paul Scott Wilson, 2008. In the second half of the twentieth century, a profound shift took place in how we think about preaching. We moved away from a vertical focus on the preacher who hands down the authoritative teaching to more relational, narrative, and conversational models. Yet common to both of these understandings, says Paul Scott Wilson, is the idea that preaching is primarily about teaching that it mainly conveys information about God. Important as this emphasis on preaching as teaching has been, Wilson believes that the time for a new approach has arrived. That new approach, which he names preaching as proclamation, has begun to arise from a variety of Euro-American and African-American sources. Its primary aim is not to convey information but to engender an encounter with God's grace in Christ. More than guiding people to say "Yes, now I understand," it hopes to lead them to proclaim "I am redeemed, we are saved." More than telling the gospel story, it renders the gospel's claim on human lives, leading to conviction of sin, repentance, and transformation. Pulling together the disparate strands of this new homiletical school, Wilson constructs a comprehensive introduction to preaching, focusing on its character as proclamation of the sovereign grace of God.

Equip Yourself to Serve: A Training Course in Lay Ministry, 1990. From the Study to the Pulpit Allan Moseley, 2018-07-25. The purpose of this book is to offer both exegetical and preaching help by means of a workable 8-step method. The author's preaching model starts with the initial step of determining the genre and meaning of the text, to doing word studies and discovering the main ideas of the text, to applying the sermon in a life-changing and Christ-honoring manner. Some books on preaching from the Old Testament are written by authors who do not actually preach or preach only occasionally. Pastors and budding preachers need a book written by someone who has known what it is like to be a pastor and has prepared sermons every week for years.
