There had been a norther during the day and at sunset the valley seen from Dysart's cabin on the mesa was a soft blur of golden haze. The wind had hurled the yellow leaves from the vineyard exposing the gnarled deformity of the vines and the trailing branches of the pepper trees had swept their fallen berries into coral reefs on the southerly side. A young man with a delicate discontented face sat on the porch of the Dysart claim cabin looking out over the valley. A last gust of lukewarm air strewed the floor with scythe shaped eucalyptus leaves and Mrs Dysart came out with her broom to sweep them away. She was a large woman with a crease at her waist that buried her apron strings and the little piazza creaked ominously as she walked about. The invalid got up with a man's instinctive distrust of a broom and began to move away. "Don't disturb yourself Mr Palmerston," she said waving him back into his chair with one hand and speaking in a large level voice as if she were quelling a mob. "Don't disturb yourself. I won't raise any dust. Does the north wind choke you up much?"
