Forest Economics, Revised and Expanded Edition Daowei Zhang, Peter H. Pearse, 2026-02-02 A firm grounding in economics is integral to sound forest management investment policies and practices Forest Economics covers the basic economic concepts principles and constructs and shows how these are applied in private and public forestry decision making This comprehensive edition contains up to date data examples and applications of economic principles along with literature and study questions and additional valuable content in several key areas forest finance and forestland investment ownership including financial economic models simple interest rate and risk measurements market distortion consumer theory priced non timber values and payment for ecosystem services land rent theory the economics of forest management planning and forest health wildfire economics an international comparison of forest taxes and fees property rights beyond the private public ownership binary the measurement of competitiveness in international trade a new theory of foreign direct investment The advanced empirical presentation and keen attention to new developments in the field reflect the authors decades of teaching experience in the United States and Canada Forest Economics is quite simply indispensable Forest Economics Daowei Zhang, Peter H. Pearse, 2011-09-15 Forestry cannot be isolated from the forces that drive all economic activity It involves using land labour and capital to produce goods and services from forests while economics helps in understanding how this can be done in ways that will best meet the needs of people Therefore a firm grounding in economics is integral to sound forestry policies and practices This book a major revision and expansion of Peter H Pearse s 1990 classic provides this grounding Updated and enhanced with advanced empirical presentation of materials it covers the basic economic principles and concepts and their application to modern forest management and policy issues Forest Economics draws on the strengths of two of the field s leading practitioners who have more than fifty years of combined experience in teaching forest economics in the United States and Canada Its comprehensive and systematic analysis of forest issues makes it an indispensable resource for students and practitioners of forest management natural resource conservation and environmental studies Tourism And China's Development- Policies, Regional Economic Growth & Ecotourism Clement A Tisdell, Julie Jie Wen, 2001-03-15 China s continuing economic reforms since 1978 have substantially altered its economic structure expanding the service sector including the tourist industry The reforms have resulted in spectacular economic growth and a boom in tourism development But China s economic growth has been very uneven regionally and has been cause for political concern The ability of tourism to counteract this uneven development and promote regionally decentralised development is therefore of special interest as is the sustainability of regional tourism which often depends on nature conservation and the presence of minority cultures This book addresses all those issues Although focussed on China it deals with issues such as those involving the sustainability of tourism and convergence and divergence in regional tourism development and economic growth relevant to other geographical areas Introduction to Forestry Economics Peter H. Pearce, 1990 Offers a good introduction to forestry economics in BC including markets supply demand pricing non market values land allocation forest rotations regulations property rights and taxes Economics and the Environment Ian Wills, 2020-09-13 Coordinating our use of the earth's natural resources is not easy Resource users are many their goals diverse and their impacts on the environment often uncertain How we use those resources depends on the signals and incentives we receive from either the market or our governments These systems encourage certain uses of natural resources but they are not perfect We harm the environment not out of malice but because we do not know the consequences of our actions or the incentives for harm are too great to ignore Economics and the Environment argues that by lowering the cost and improving the quality of the necessary signals and incentives we can better reconcile our diverse interests in the environment It introduces an economic way of thinking about environmental issues without assuming a background in economics how the economy and the environment interact how resource use is coordinated in ideal market and planned economies the barriers to ideal signalling and incentives in real markets and real government planning the economist's tools for dealing with natural resource issues the uncertainty and complexity of environmental issues climate change water rights air pollution and overharvesting of common resources This second edition of Economics and the Environment is fully updated and includes new material on sustainability valuation of environmental changes the prospects for international cooperation under the Kyoto Protocol and the problems of defining and enforcing measures to protect biodiversity It offers students in both economics and environmental studies programs a coherent framework for understanding our major environmental problems Ian Wills succeeds in providing a fresh perspective a very interesting and informative textbook Economic Record

The Programming Approach and the Demise of Economics Franco Archibugi, 2019-11-21 This trilogy deals with an epistemology of economics arguing for a radical overturning of conventional analysis and providing an alternative to political economy and social sciences based not on positivism but on a normative and programming paradigm Volume II builds on the work presented in Volume I to explore oppositions to the traditional and conventional teaching of economics and presents testimonies that are favourable to a trend towards a programming approach thereby giving substance to the epistemological overturning of conventional analysis Such oppositions studied include the work of Ludvig von Mises and his theory of praxeology Ian Tinbergen and Wassily Leontief's preference for planning over forecasting science Bruno de Finetti and Daniel Bell's support for the base of utopia in economics the trend from the theory of planning towards the methodology of planning by Andreas Faludi neoclassic curiosity about the multi purposes approach and non economic commodities as investigated by Walter Isard as well as theories expressed by Herbert Simon Robert Lucas George Soros and Mark Blaug Volume III takes studies further and presents a concrete and practical example of how to build a Planning Accounting Framework PAF as associated with Frisch's plan frame explored in Volume II to demonstrate the extent to which decisions and negotiations can
