The Acid House:

The Acid House Irvine Welsh, 1995-04-17 Irvine Welsh's scintillating, disturbing, and altogether outrageous collection of stories is the basis for the 1998 cult movie directed by Paul McGuigan. He is called the Scottish Celine of the 1990s by the Guardian and a mad postmodern Roald Dahl by Weekend Scotsman. Using a range of approaches from bitter realism to demented fantasy, Irvine Welsh is able to evoke the essential humanity well hidden as it is of his generally depraved, lazy, manipulative, and vicious characters. He specializes particularly in cosmic reversals: God turns a hapless footballer into a fly, an acid head and a newborn infant exchange consciousnesses with sardonically unexpected results, always displaying a corrosive wit and a telling accuracy of language and detail. Irvine Welsh is one hilariously dangerous writer who always creates a sensation.

The Acid House Irvine Welsh, 1999 Bizarre, disturbing, and hilarious writing from one of the literary world's most uncompromising and original stars. Two professors of philosophy turn pugilists; Leith, a removal man, becomes the object of desire for Hollywood goddesses; God turns Boab Coyle into a house fly; and in the novella A Smart Cunt, the drug-addled young hero spins off on a collision course with his past. Youth Media Bill Osgerby, 2004-09-30 Part of the successful Routledge Introductions to Media and Communications series, which provides concise introductions to key areas in contemporary communications. Bill Osgerby's innovative Youth Media traces the development of contemporary youth culture and its relationship with the media. From the days of diners, drive-ins, and jukeboxes to today's world of iPods and the Internet, Youth Media examines youth media in its economic, cultural, and political contexts and explores youth culture and the media: the Fab Phenomenon, markets, money, and media; generation and degeneration in the media; representations, responses, and effects; media subculture and lifestyle; global media; youth culture and identity; youth and new media. Analyzing the nature of different forms of communication as well as reviewing their production and consumption, this is an essential introduction to this key area in communication and cultural studies.

Irvine Welsh Aaron Kelly, 2024-07-30 Irvine Welsh's fiction has defined an era, and this first full-length study provides a sustained textual and contextual analysis of all his work from Trainspotting and The Acid House to Glue and Porno. A detailed chronological survey also considers the appropriateness of cultural, postmodern, and postcolonial theories to Welsh's incendiary fiction. Kelly gives a fascinating insight into the writer's formal and political ambitions, placing him in the context of the brat pack which exploded onto the Scottish literary scene in the 1990s. He explores the social class and political conditioning of Welsh's early life and its impact on his motivations for writing. Clearly written and accessible, this will be a key resource for students and academics alike. Choose Irvine Welsh. Irvine Welsh Robert Morace, 2007-07-19 This book provides an introduction to the work of Irvine Welsh, placing his fiction in historical and theoretical context. It explores Welsh's biography, his impact on contemporary Scottish fiction, and the cultural relevance of his work. Including a timeline of key dates, it also offers an overview of the critical reception his work has provoked.
