The African City:

The African City Anthony O'Connor, 2013-01-11 This book explores various characteristics of tropical African cities with special reference to change in the post independence period It stresses the diversity of urban forms and urban experience to be found within the region distinguishing the more general features from those peculiar to individual cities Much has been written about urban Africa but nearly all relates to particular cities this book provides a context for such studies This review provides an essential foundation both for theoretical clarification of the processes of urbanization and for practical planning decisions The topics covered range from rural urban migration and national urban systems to the urban economy housing and the spatial structure of cities The sharp contrasts between indigenous and colonial urban traditions are emphasized but so also is the evidence for convergence today as indigenization takes place in the colonial cities while Westernization proceeds in those of indigenous origin This book was first published in 1983

Sustainable Intercultural Urbanism at the Service of the African City of Tomorrow Esoh Elamé, 2022-06-03 Most African cities are human settlements that lack the systems needed for effective land use planning In fact the disorganization that prevails has become so complex that the concept of urbanism itself has been called into question This book highlights the need to restore urban planning in African cities through sustainable development and interculturality Furthermore it addresses the balance of power between urban planning and sustainable development and explores the historical and postcolonial aspects of urban planning in African cities A case study focusing on the development of sustainable cities and neighborhoods in the M Zab Valley is also included as well as topics such as urban greening climatic threats and the problem of state agro industrial land transactions which compete with sustainable urban planning Sustainable Intercultural Urbanism at the Service of the African City of Tomorrow is a valuable reference for researchers and practitioners interested in urban issues in African cities These cities in particular sub Saharan cities have long been excluded from any discourse on sustainable cities and urban planning this book places the focus on these cities and acknowledges their varied urban realities The intention is to spark a new debate on sustainable urban planning in African cities based on intercultural sustainable urbanism which is key to thinking about and building ecological intercultural compact intelligent and postcolonial cities
