Cognitive Foundations of Grammar Bernd Heine, 1997-11-27 The main function of language is to convey meaning Therefore argues Bernd Heine in these pages the question of why language is structured the way it is must first of all be answered with reference to this function Linguistic explanations offered in terms of other exponents of language structure for example syntax are likely to highlight peripheral or epi phenomenal rather than central characteristics of language structure Heine provides a solid introductory treatment of the ways in which language structure that is grammar and language usage can be explained with reference to the processes underlying human conceptualization and communication Exploring an area of linguistics that has developed only recently and is rapidly expanding Cognitive Foundations of Grammar will appeal to students of linguistics psychology and anthropology especially those interested in grammaticalization processes

Cognitive Foundations of Grammar Institute of African Studies University of Cologne Bernd Heine Professor of Linguistics, 1997-10-31 The main function of language is to convey meaning The question of why language is structured the way it is Heine here argues has therefore to be answered first of all with reference to this function Linguistic explanations in terms of other exponents of language structure e g of syntax are likely to highlight peripheral or epi phenomenal rather than central characteristics of language structure This book uses basic findings on grammaticalization processes to describe the role of cognitive forces in shaping grammar It provides students with an introductory treatment of a field of linguistics that has developed recently and is rapidly expanding

Rood, 2005-01-01 From the refinement of general methodology to new insights of synchronic and diachronic universals to studies of specific phenomena this collection demonstrates the crucial role that language data play in the evolution of useful accurate linguistic theories Issues addressed include the determination of meaning in typological studies a refined understanding of diachronic processes by including intentional social statistical and level determined phenomena the reconsideration of categories such as sentence evidential or adposition and structures such as compounds or polysynthesis the tension between formal simplicity and functional clarity the inclusion of unusual systems in theoretical debates and fresh approaches to Chinese classifiers possession in Oceanic languages and English aspect This is a careful selection of papers presented at the International Symposium on Linguistic Diversity and Language Theories in Boulder Colorado The purpose of the Symposium was to confront fundamental issues in language structure and change with the rich variation of forms and functions observed across languages

Universals of Human Language: Word structure Joseph Harold Greenberg, Charles Albert Ferguson, Edith A. Moravcsik, 1978 The 46 papers in this 4 volume collection provide clear and certain evidence that the search for implicational universals of human language that is for valid empirical generalizations such as if property Y exists in a language then property X must exist as well has established itself once and for all as a powerful and dynamic force in modern linguistics Concomitantly the collection attests to a broadened use among scholars engaged in universals research of a theoretical and methodological strategy pioneered elaborated and most extensively applied by Joseph Greenberg that contrasts in fundamental respects with procedures favored by generative grammarians Finally and most impressive of all the papers present abundant results a profusion of concrete findings that should persuade even the most hardened skeptics that implicational principles have a great deal to tell about what human language is and how it got to be that way from <http://www.jstor.org> May 21 2014
