Delusions and Discoveries Benita Parry, Michael Sprinker, 1998 No cultural phenomenon of the 1970s and 1980s in Britain was more curious than the Raj revival with its slew of films and fictions its rage for memorabilia of imperial rule in India and its strange nostalgia for a time and a world long since past Today with the arrival of so called postcolonial studies that revival lives on in a strange afterlife of critical study Writing some years before Raj nostalgia became all the rage and out of the rather different political and intellectual climate of 1960s national liberation struggles Benita Parry produced what remains one of the landmark studies of British attitudes towards India Available for the first time in Paper Delusions and Discoveries authoritatively surveys the mix of racist and jingoistic prejudices that dominated the writings of Anglo Indians from Flora Annie Steele and Maud Diver to Kipling and beyond The book also includes treatments of more liberal thinkers like Edmund Candler Edward James Thompson and E M Forster as well as a new preface by the author situating her work in relation to recent studies of the culture of colony and empire

Lifescapes Jeremy Burchardt, 2023-05-11 Why does landscape matter to us We rarely articulate the often highly individual ways it can do so Drawing on eight remarkable unpublished diaries Jeremy Burchardt demonstrates that responses to landscape in modern Britain were powerfully affected by personal circumstances especially those experienced in childhood and youth Four major patterns are identified Adherers valued landscape for its continuity Withdrawers for the refuge it provides from perceived threats Restorers for its sustaining of core value systems and Explorers for its opportunities for self discovery and development Lifescapes sets out a new approach to landscape history based on comparative biography and deep contextualization which has far reaching implications It foregrounds family structures and relationships and the psychological dynamics they generate These it is argued were usually a more decisive presence in landscape encounters than wider cultural patterns and forces Seen in this way landscape can be understood as a mirror reflecting our innermost selves and the psychosocial influences shaping our development This is a compelling and original study of the relationship between individual lives and landscapes Booklist ,1925 A.L.A.

The Birth of British Airpower Peter John Dye,2024-10-15 The Birth of British Airpower describes how Hugh Trenchard a man with few leadership skills became a much loved and inspirational commander who laid the foundation for British airpower on the Western Front in World War I and created the preconditions for the establishment of the world s first independent air service the Royal Air Force Author Peter Dye explores how friendship can overcome significant personal and character deficiencies and how by assembling the right senior leadership team Trenchard achieved greatness The book also examines how the development of airpower doctrine in World War I owed as much to chance as to careful planning and how air superiority was achieved only through sustained effort underpinned by an effective and responsive logistic system Finally it explains how the ethos of the postwar air force was built around these experiences and the collective effort of all those involved in the air war I Married a Barbarian Dennis Bloodworth,2000 The Importance of Being Micheál
