Gnosis and the Question of Thought in Vedānta J.G. Arapura, 2012-12-06 It would probably be generally admitted that Vedanta is the apex of the Indian or Eastern religious philosophies Yet today it commands so little attention in part no doubt because the modern mood in scholarship refuses anchoring and centering of thought The present work seeks to address modern thought though not in the modern mood It is nevertheless motivated by the belief that there are times when the timeless is most timely It is possible that the sources of a tradition such as Vedanta if approached properly will yield something which can be brought within the ambience of the contemporary philosophical quest at least of its still largely unmanifest undercurrents The present work is intended to be an act imperfect as it is in that direction That marks the difference of this project called Gnosis and the Question of Thought in Vedanta from customary studies in Indology The term gnosis as employed in this context is a translation of its cognate Sanskrit term jñāna the latter however having a much wider range of meaning than the former especially in view of the latter's appropriation for a specific usage by the Gnostic traditions of both the East and the West In the general expression of Vedanta too the Gnostic understanding of jñāna has undoubtedly persisted especially in the so called jñāna marga or way of gnosis made popular from early medieval times on
