Young Reporters:

Help for Young Reporters Eliza Boardman Burnz, 1885      The Young Reporter at the Big Flood, Or, The Perils of News Gathering Howard Roger Garis, 1907      Letters to a Young Journalist Samuel G. Freedman, 2011-11-08 Over the course of a thirty year career Samuel Freedman has excelled both at doing journalism and teaching it and he passionately engages both of these endeavors in the pages of this book As an author and journalist Freedman has produced award winning books investigative series opinion columns and feature stories and has become a specialist in a wide variety of fields As a teacher he has shared his expertise and experience with hundreds of students who have gone on to succeed in both print and broadcast media In Letters to a Young Journalist Freedman conducts an extended conversation with young journalists from kids on the high school paper to graduates starting their first jobs Whether he is talking about radio documentaries or TV news shows Internet blogs or backwater beats shoeleather research or elegant prose his goal is to explore the habits of mind that make an excellent journalist It is no secret that journalism's mission is seriously imperiled these days and Freedman's provocative ideas and fascinating stories offer students and journalists at all levels of experience wise guidance and professional inspiration      The young journalist J. Henry Harris, 1902      The Young Reporter and the Land Swindlers, Or, Queer Adventures in a Great City Howard Roger Garis, 1907      Youth Reporters Discuss "problem" Elizabeth Herzog, 1970      The Young Reporter and the Missing Millionaire, Or, A Strange Disappearance Howard Roger Garis, 1909      The Washington Reporters Stephen Hess, 2010-12-01 In the vast literature on the way democratic governments work the role of the press is often overlooked Yet the press no less than the formal branches of government is a public policy institution and deserves to be included in explanations of the governmental process In The Washington Reporters Stephen Hess focuses on those who cover the U S government for the American commercial news media His book is based on interviews with reporters and editors and on responses to questionnaires from nearly half of the over 1 200 American reporters in Washington Analysis of these responses and comparison with the content and placement of over 2 000 of these reporters news stories permit an unusual and sometimes startling perspective on Washington newswork Mr Hess demonstrates for instance how information in the news regularly comes from the legislative branch of the government despite the greater number of stories on the presidency and he shows that Washington news dominates the front pages of daily newspapers across the country no matter how little may be going on in the nation's capital The author concludes that Washington news gathering fragments media power while at the same time it shifts decisions on what is news and how it should be covered to the reporters The import of this impression is that reporters are not simply passing along information they are choosing within certain limits what most people will know about government The freedom given and assumed by these news workers affects the shape of national affairs      The Young Journalist: His Work and how to Learn it J. Henry Harris, 1902      At Ground Zero Sam Erman, Chris Bull, 2002-08-25 The young reporters featured in this book were in the midst of a tragedy that most Americans felt deeply if from a distance Amongst them are contributors from Newsweek the New York Times the Washington Post the Wall Street Journal the Boston Globe The Advocate Stars and Stripes CNN Reuters the Stuyvesant Standard Yomiuri Shimbun India Abroad the Columbia News Service and more Their powerful stories and individual experiences are personal in their details but universal in their impact Many contributors were at the scene of the collapse and all describe the anger thrills terror depression and redemption that accompanied their coverage They relate who they interviewed what they photographed and how they presented the information they uncovered to editors and readers Here a Fox News telecaster describes her heartbreaking work interviewing victims families An NPR radio correspondent records the sounds of crowds fleeing the collapse while a New York Daily News photographer is buried in rubble South Asian and Middle Eastern Americans terrified by potential repercussions speak to a Newsday reporter and a Columbia Journalism School student presents articles written while planning to drop out of journalism school because of the trauma Like most Americans these writers are not seasoned war correspondents Instead they are smart articulate sensitive adults writing personal stories memoirs in miniature of their coming of age as journalists during a time of national tribulation

Browne's Phonographic Monthly and Reporters' Journal ,1885      Immersive Journalism Tomás Dodds,2024-04-17

This volume explores the rise of immersive technologies such as virtual reality augmented reality and 360 videos in the newsroom and how they affect newsmaking for journalists news sources and audiences As these technologies offer journalists new and exciting opportunities to connect more deeply emotionally and presently with their audience they also introduce unique ethical and practical questions concerning the collection and use of biometric sensory and metadata Contributors analyze this shift from passive consumption to active engagement in order to investigate the positive and negative impacts that immersive technologies can have on journalistic norms professional ethics audience engagement and data protection Ultimately this volume highlights both the potential for these technologies to redefine the relationship between news producers and consumers and the potential challenges their integration may pose Scholars of journalism communication science technology studies and digital media will find this book particularly useful      The Reporters'
