Sir Adrian Boult:

Adrian Boult Michael Kennedy, 1987 Sir Adrian Boult Alan Sanders, 1981 Sir Adrian Boult, Companion of Honour Nigel Simeone, Simon Mundy, 1980 Sir Adrian Boult, Companion of Honour Adrian Boult, Nigel Simeone, Simon Mundy, 1980 Boult on Music Adrian Boult, 1983 Collected from his writings broadcast essays and talks Sir Adrian Boult on music, 1983 Sir Adrian Boult Papers Adrian Boult, 1977 Thoughts on Conducting Adrian Boult, 1963

Sir Adrian Boult is one of Europe's senior conductors and has not only conducted most of the world's great orchestras but has also been a teacher and judge of the art of conducting. For twenty years he was the BBC director of music and chief conductor. He now conducts the London Philharmonic and other orchestras. In this short book he discusses the work of conductors notably Arthur Nikisch and the problems and opportunities of conducting and he writes discursively and anecdotally as well as biographically on a topic which has engrossed and held him for over fifty years. He actually joined the staff of Covent Garden in 1914 and conducted the first performance of Holst's symphonic suite The Planets in 1918. Adrian Boult's Thoughts on Conducting will be read and is intended to be read by the concert-going or concert-listening public and his wise remarks on the place of conducting in music, his comments on such matters as rehearsals, the behaviour of conductors, the accompaniment of concertos and on problems of interpretation must create in his reader a deep appreciation of the work of orchestras and an admiration for the integrity and solid musicianship of its author. Music and Friends Adrian Boult, 1979. A conductor is the most public of musicians for he depends entirely on the response of others. The career of Sir Adrian Boult is a virtual history of music in the twentieth century. This anthology of letters looks at the history through the eyes of those who helped make it. Letters from Elgar show the recognition of a chosen interpreter. Vaughan Williams and Holst share working details of a composer's life. The long correspondence with Bruno Walter ripens before the darkening sky of world events. In the 1960s and 1970s the affectionate friendship of the Menuhins speaks for music and friends throughout the world. The background is a rich tapestry. There are letters from Parry, Stanford, Delius, Bantock, Ireland, Bax, Bliss, Walton, Tippett and Malcolm Williamson at home; from Sibelius, De Falla, Franz, Lehar, Hindemith and Alan Berg abroad. Among Boult's colleagues on the performing platform whose correspondence is included are Toscanini, Henry Wood, Bernard Haitink, Gervase Elwes, Casals, Schnabel, Solomon, Emil Gilels and Paul Tortelier. And there are letters from the great musical scholars of his time: Sir Donald Tovey, E. J. Dent, E. H. Fellowes, Nadia Boulanger. These letters of friends are set off with extracts from Adrian Boult's writings and interviews showing vivid pictures of his work as musician and teacher at Oxford early in the century, at the Royal College of Music as Director of Music for the BBC through twenty crucial years, and finally as the elder statesman of British music. Elgar Studies Raymond Monk, 2017-07-05. Edward Elgar rose from obscurity to become the most popular English composer of his day. Elgar's music is known world-wide and works such as the Enigma Variations and The Dream of Gerontius together with the two symphonies and the two concertos have established him as one of the greatest British composers of all time The Elgar Society was founded in 1951 to further the cause of Elgar's music and the present volume of essays has been compiled as an expression of gratitude for the work that it has done These essays reflect the variety and richness of Elgar's music and the debate that this music continues to encourage The book is not simply for academics however lovers of music in general will find much to entertain them and it will add greatly to our appreciation of Elgar
