The Stephen Experience:

Modernism, Nationalism, and the Novel Pericles Lewis, 2000-04-24 In Modernism Nationalism and the Novel first published in 2000 Pericles Lewis shows how political debates over the sources and nature of national character prompted radical experiments in narrative form amongst modernist writers Though critics have accused the modern novel of shunning the external world Lewis suggests that far from abandoning nineteenth century realists concern with politics the modernists used this emphasis on individual consciousness to address the distinctively political ways in which the modern nation state shapes the psyche of its subjects Tracing this theme through Joyce Proust and Conrad amongst others Lewis claims that modern novelists gave life to a whole generation of narrators who forged new social realities in their own images Their literary techniques multiple narrators transcriptions of consciousness involuntary memory and arcane symbolism focused attention on the shaping of the individual by the nation and on the potential of the individual in time of crisis to redeem the nation

Theology, 1922 Landscapes of the Soul Douglas V. Porpora, 2001-06-21 Do you believe in God Nine out of ten Americans unhesitatingly answer yes But for Douglas Porpora the real questions begin where pollsters leave off What he asks does religious belief actually mean in our lives Does it shape our identities and our actions Or despite our professions of faith are we morally adrift Landscapes of the Soul paints a disturbing picture of American spiritual life In his search for answers to his questions Porpora interviewed clerks and executives Jews evangelical Christians Buddhists Taoists and even followers of Bhagwan Sri Rajneesh He asked them about God and about what they saw as their own place in the universe What he found was a widespread inability to articulate any grand meaning of life We lack heroes to inspire us We lack a sense of calling of transcendent purpose in our existence Many of us seem incapable of caring deeply about the suffering of others Our society is permeated with moral indifference Yes we are a believing people but God is often a distant abstraction and rarely an emotional presence in our lives Only such an emotional connection Porpora argues can be the basis of a genuine moral vision Our emotional estrangement from God and the sacred keeps us from caring about social justice keeps us from wanting to change the world keeps us enclosed in our own private worlds Landscapes of the Soul is a passionate call to broaden our spiritual and moral horizons to raise our eyes to the greater reality that unites us all
