

A person wearing a red shirt and a white hat is working in a forest, possibly measuring a tree. The scene is dimly lit, with sunlight filtering through the trees, creating a dappled light effect on the ground and foliage. The person is positioned in the lower center of the frame, looking towards the right.

Timber Country Revisited Earl Roberge,1991-01-01      Community And The Northwestern Logger Matthew S. Carroll,2019-04-09 It has often been said that natural resource and environmental problems cannot be solved without solving human problems In this book Matthew Carroll examines the economic and social circumstances of northwestern U S loggers in the face of shifts in environmental politics dramatic reductions in timber harvest levels on federal lands and changing technology and market forces among other factors that are rapidly transforming their industry their livelihoods and their communities Drawing upon sociological fieldwork in logging communities that he conducted at various times over a period of nearly a decade and using the spotted owl old growth controversy as a case study Carroll provides a rich and detailed picture of life among northwestern loggers He lays out the human dimensions and dilemmas of the timber crisis Expanding it from the oversimplified owl versus logger confrontation he puts these issues in a historical and policy context and suggests parallels to other controversies such as public grazing and federal or state river protection Carrol s work revives the concept of occupational community and shows ways it can be used to understand the dynamics of rural occupations linked to resource extraction      Pulpwood Highlights ,1992      The Rotarian ,1994-04 Established in 1911 The Rotarian is the official magazine of Rotary International and is circulated worldwide Each issue contains feature articles columns and departments about or of interest to Rotarians Seventeen Nobel Prize winners and 19 Pulitzer Prize winners from Mahatma Ghandi to Kurt Vonnegut Jr have written for the magazine      Deadfall James LeMonds,2001 Logging has been a way of life in the Pacific Northwest a thread woven into the character of communities for more than a century And in this far corner James LeMonds s family has done about every job in the woods working as high climbers and whistle p      The Timberman ,1925      Logging & Sawmilling Journal ,1992      The Cumulative Book Index ,1996 A world list of books in the English language      Addresses - Empire Club of Canada Empire Club of Canada,1923      Epistemologies of Land Felix Anderl,2024-01-22 In search of new ways in which land can be known an interdisciplinary group of scholars in this book demonstrates that not only is it important to learn about the plurality of meanings of land but that knowing through land offers new ways of understanding social relations more broadly      Medium ,1993      Forestry Matters ,1990      Directory of the Wood Products Industry ,1999      CURRENT CONTENTS ,1996      Country Life ,1922      Lumber & Panel ,1998      Environmental Blockades Iain McIntyre,2021-06-10 Since the 1970s environmental blockades disrupting the exploitation and destruction of forests rivers and other biodiverse places have been one of the most attention grabbing and contentious forms of political action This book explores when where and why environmental blockading and its associated tactics first arose The author explores a broad range of questions including how did tactics and practices first developed and popularised during environmental blockades come to feature regularly in animal rights peace refugee and other campaigns What are blockaders hoping to achieve How have such blockades and tactics shaped government policy the culture of modern politics and popular understandings of ecology colonialism and activism This book offers the first comprehensive history and analysis of environmental blockading in three key countries Australia the United States and Canada As the first places to experience sustained protest cycles which fully established promoted and developed the environmental blockading repertoire as an ongoing strategic option for movements nationally and internationally these campaigns were central in creating a new approach to conservation issues They also played a leading role in making obstructive direct action a regular part of political campaigning as seen in the form of the Extinction Rebellion XR alter globalisation climate justice and other movements This book draws on rigorous archival research including sources ranging from personal diaries campaign minutes and video footage through to police reports and newspaper articles as well as interviews with more than 30 protest leaders and campaigners It will be of great interest to students and scholars in the fields of sociology political science history green criminology and interdisciplinary environmental studies
