Anson, 1998 Few composition scholars two decades ago would have imagined the rate at which their field is now developing expanding beyond its boundaries creating new alliances and locating new sites for research and generation of knowledge In their introduction to this volume Farris and Anson argue that faced with a welter of competing models compositionists too quickly dichotomize and dismiss The contributors to Under Construction therefore address themselves to the need for commerce among competing visions of the field They represent diverse settings and distinct points Becoming Literate in an Inner City, Whole Language School Debra Lynn Goodman, 1999 Reading Poverty Patrick Shannon, 1998 A provocative look at how social political and economic contexts inform the literacy education field Beginning to Read and the Spin Doctors of Science Denny Taylor, 1998 Suggesting that the contention that phonemic awareness must be taught directly and that children need explicit systematic instruction in phonics is less of a scientific fact than an exercise in political persuasion this book presents the story of the political campaign that is taking place to change the minds of Americans about how young children learn to read The book begins with a close look at the empirical research being used to support a massive shift in the national understandings about language literacy and learning and concludes by revealing the ways in which research studies on early reading instruction are being used by the federal and state governments to support a new methodology that has turned early reading instruction into a massive business of unprecedented commercial worth The chapters in the book are 1 In Which We Are Told Training in Phonemic Awareness Is the Key to Reading Success 2 In Which Phonemic Awareness Research Is Analyzed from an Experimental Psychological Perspective 3 In Which Phonemic Awareness Research Is Analyzed from a Sociocultural Perspective 4 In Which We Find
