The Floating Opera:

The Floating Opera and The End of the Road John Barth, 1997-03-11 From the author of National Book Award nominated Lost in the Funhouse John Barth's first two novels are both existential comedies featuring strange consuming love triangles and the destructive effects of an overactive intellect on the emotions Barth ran riot over literary rules and conventions even as he displayed with meticulous discipline mastery of and respect for them The New York Times The relationship between these two darkly comic novels is evident not only in their ribald and philosophical subject matter but in their eccentric characters and bitterly humorous tone The protagonist of The Floating Opera is Todd Andrews an orphaned war veteran who has been sleeping with his friend's wife Todd awakens in the morning determined to commit suicide having concluded that nothing in life has intrinsic value but then spends the day methodically reasoning his way into disregarding that fact and remaining a part of the floating opera of life In The End of the Road a man named Jacob Horner finds himself literally paralyzed by an inability to choose a course of action from all possibilities He begins an unconventional course of mythotherapy treatment at the Remobilization Farm but his eccentric doctor's directives lead him into a tragic love triangle and from there to the nihilistic end of the road Separately these two novels give two very different views of the universal human quest for meaning and together they form the beginnings of an illustrious literary career The Floating Opera John Barth, 1967 The Floating Opera. Barth John Barth, 1970 The Floating Opera/ John Bath John Barth, 1970 Once Upon a Time - a Floating Opera John Barth, 2015-12-18 An fantasy filled sailing trip through Chesapeake Bay in the course of which a writer recounts his life The novel is written in the form of an opera whose arias serve as vehicles for digressions which would otherwise have slowed down the narrative By the author of The Last Voyage of Somebody the Sailor The Floating Opera Comes to the End of the Road Ingrid Otero Garabís, 1979 Supplanting the Postmodern David Rudrum, Nicholas Stavris, 2015-09-24 For more than a decade now a steadily growing chorus of voices has announced that the postmodern literature art thought and culture of the late 20th century have come to an end At the same time as this the early years of the 21st century have seen a stream of critical formulations proclaiming a successor to postmodernism Intriguing and exciting new terms such as remodernism performatism hypermodernism automodernism renewalism altermodernism digimodernism and metamodernism have been coined proposed and debated as terms for what comes after the postmodern Supplanting the Postmodern is the first anthology to collect the key writings in these debates in one place The book is divided into two parts the first The Sense of an Ending presents a range of positions in the debate around the demise of the postmodern the second Coming to Terms with the New presents representative writings from the new isms mentioned above Each of the entries is prefaced by a brief introduction by the editors in which they outline its central ideas point out the similarities and or differences from other positions found in the anthology and suggest possible strengths and limitations to the insights presented in each piece The Floating Opera Philip Landeck, Mark Strand, 1970 Passionate
