Whiteman, 2017-09-05 Originally published in 1986 This book is concerned with how regional economies adapt and respond to changing circumstances and especially with the spatial system and processes of restructuring Throughout the book there is a methodological commitment to adjustment theory a unique analytical framework for the study of the dynamics of advanced capitalist economies Instead of homogenising space in the manner of neoclassical economic theory the authors focus on adjustment processes that produce and reproduce spatial differentiation The most important facets of regional economic structure are covered employment wages prices migration and capital investment in terms of their own dimensions and their connections with the larger theoretical framework Each part of the book develops one particular dimension of regional adjustment and each has an overview and summary Within each part there is a sequence of related studies focussing on the empirical aspects theoretical logic and distributive consequences of regional adjustment      Regional Dynamics paramount importance for the dynamic regional economic environment in a city or region This volume offers an overview and critical treatment of the spatial economic roots opportunities and impacts of new growth strategies mainly from an evidence based perspective In the various contributions to this volume relevant findings and strategic options are interpreted and discussed from both an analytical and a policy perspective to help cultivate creativity human capital development and
