Write To Learn 8eim:

Lectures on Differential Geometry Shlomo Sternberg, 1999 This book is based on lectures given at Harvard University during the academic year 1960-1961. The presentation assumes knowledge of the elements of modern algebra, groups, vector spaces, etc. and point set topology and some elementary analysis. Rather than giving all the basic information or touching upon every topic in the field, this work treats various selected topics in differential geometry. The author concisely addresses standard material and spreads exercises throughout the text. His reprint has two additions to the original volume: a paper written jointly with V. Guillemin at the beginning of a period of intense interest in the equivalence problem and a short description from the author on results in the field that occurred between the first and the second printings. American Lumberman, 1918 Learning to Write/writing to Learn John Sawyer Mayher, Nancy Lester, Nancy B. Lester, Gordon M. Pradl, 1983 Learning to Write Writing to Learn provides a basic guide to writing as a way of learning, drawing the reader into an expanded notion of what writing is and how it is created. As you read the chapters, the ideas seem at first only a synthesis of masters like Elbow, Emig, Murray, Graves, Britton, and Moffett. But upon closer look, there is more to the book than a litany of already published ideas. Mayher, Lester, and Pradl use their own means of organization to extend the dialogue to present concerns. The book is like a long description of what a good writing class, writing group, or writing institute can be. Write to Learn 7e-Im Murray, 2001-08-01 Features Using examples of his own writing and the writing of both students and professionals, Donald Murray offers numerous examples from which students can model and learn. The index, Help for Your Writing Problems, as well as a reference list of Writing Techniques, help students quickly find where to look in the book for answers to the most frequently asked questions about writing. In the Writer's Workshop, real writers talk about what they do when they go through the writing process. Questions About provides answers to questions that beginning writers might ask. New to the Seventh Edition: A new Chapter 1, Make Writing Easy, is designed to help the student begin writing immediately using the skills they already possess. Three new Shoptalk chapters on research, Chapter 4, revising and editing, Chapter 7, and collaboration, Chapter 8, make it possible for students to learn and practice the writing process. Chapter 10, Fit Your Process to Your Task, contains a new section on writing e-mail at work and is designed to help students overcome common mistakes. The writing process itself is refined. In the seventh edition, it is Focus, Research, Draft, Revise, and Edit, which is more helpful to students and their teachers. Two new essays located in Chapter 5 on research have been added to emphasize the importance of the Internet as a research tool and to provide students with research guidelines. Two new case Write to Learn Donald M. Murray, 1987-01-01 Offers step-by-step instructions for developing effective writing skills. Writing and Learning Anne Ruggles Gere, 1985 From the preface: There are two major sections in this book reflecting the difference between learning to write and writing to show learning. The first part of the book concentrates on learning to write. It begins with a discussion of what writing is, suggests ways of starting to write, considers the role of audience in writing, and then examines strategies for drafting These strategies are arranged in order of difficulty and each builds on the previous one so that for example argument or writing to convince includes strategies of narration and explanation Exploratory writing comes last in this section because it is the most difficult and inclusive kind of writing The exercises throughout these chapters provide opportunities to use what has just been learned and suggestions for further writing invite more extensive prose Part two focuses on writing to show learning by discussing strategies for revising These strategies include rereading entire pieces of writing in terms of organization cohesion and style reshaping paragraphs and sentences and polishing writing to conform with conventions of spelling punctuation capitalization usage and accepted formats such as documentation style The index provides easy reference for questions about writing page ix
