Writing Is An Aid To Memory:

Writing is an Aid to Memory Lyn Hejinian, 1978 Poetic Machinations Michael Golston, 2015-09-01 The shape lineation and prosody of postmodern poems are extravagantly inventive imbuing both form and content with meaning Through a survey of American poetry and poetics from the end of World War II to the present Michael Golston traces the proliferation of these experiments to a growing fascination with allegory in philosophy linguistics critical theory and aesthetics introducing new strategies for reading American poetry while embedding its formal innovations within the history of intellectual thought Beginning with Walter Benjamin's explicit understanding of Surrealism as an allegorical art Golston defines a distinct engagement with allegory among philosophers theorists and critics from 1950 to today Reading Fredric Jameson Angus Fletcher Roland Barthes and Craig Owens and working with the semiotics of Charles Sanders Peirce Golston develops a theory of allegory he then applies to the poems of Louis Zukofsky and Lorine Niedecker who he argues wrote in response to the Surrealists the poems of John Ashbery and Clark Coolidge who incorporated formal aspects of filmmaking and photography into their work the groundbreaking configurations of P Inman Lyn Hejinian Myung Mi Kim and the Language poets Susan Howe's Peirce Arrow which he submits to semiotic analysis and the innovations of Craig Dworkin and the conceptualists Revitalizing what many consider to be a staid rhetorical trope Golston positions allegory as a creative catalyst behind American poetry's postwar avant garde achievements The Art of Writing & Speaking the English Language Sherwin Cody, 1903 Recovery and Transgression Kornelia Freitag, 2015-09-04 There is no poetry without memory Recovery and Transgression Memory in American Poetry is devoted to the ways in which poetic texts shape and are shaped by personal collective and cultural memory It looks at the manifold and often transgressive techniques through which the past is recovered and repurposed in poetry T S Eliot's The Waste Land Susan Howe's THIS THAT Lyn Hejinian's Writing Is an Aid to Memory John Tranter's The Anaglyph Amiri Baraka's Somebody Blew Up America and Amy Clampitt's Nothing Stays Put are only some of the texts discussed in this volume by a group of international poetry experts They specifically focus on the effects of the cultural interaction mixture translation and hybridization of memory of in and mediated by poetry Poetic memory as becomes strikingly clear may be founded on the past but has everything to do with the cultural present of poets and readers and with their hopes and fears for the future Handbook of Writing Research Charles A. MacArthur, Steve Graham, Jill Fitzgerald, 2008-01-14 Presents a collection of essays discussing the theories and models of writing research Cultural Criticism in Women's Experimental Writing Kornelia Freitag, 2006 Contemporary experimental poetry By women But is this women's writing The type of poetry that is central to this book has long been met with surprise if not rejection by both critics and the general public This volume is an introduction to recent developments in women's poetic experiments an area that has grown from rather marginalized and isolated beginnings into a thriving and highly visible field Women's experimental texts can no longer be ignored but they remain a challenge to readers and critics this study examines some of the reasons why recognition has been delayed and it also provides a range of new readings With particular focus on poetry by Rosmarie Waldrop Lyn Hejinian and Susan Howe women s poetic experiments are shown to be a critique of current practices of cultural representation that relegate women s poetry and experimental writing to separate spheres
