Stöckmann,2024-11-19 During the first half of the twentieth century world politics was reshaped in pursuit of a new international order The ideological foundations of the new diplomacy and its fate during the interwar period are well known This book instead examines the practices of internationalism and diplomacy from the First Hague Conference of 1899 to the aftermath of the Second World War By focusing on these practices such as disarmament regimes or public diplomacy and their use as instruments to build international order s it emphasises the constructed contested and experimental character of what subsequently became a standard repertoire of international politics Essays from a range of interdisciplinary scholars address well established principles such as self determination and also less prominent practices such as small arms control or parliamentary inquiry The book makes a major contribution to the growing historiography on twentieth century

Foods Lisa Haushofer,2022-12-27 Between 1850 and 1950 experts and entrepreneurs in Britain and the United States forged new connections between the nutrition sciences and the commercial realm through their enthusiasm for new edible consumables The resulting food products promised wondrous solutions for what seemed to be both individual and social ills
By examining creations such as Gail Borden s meat biscuit Benger s Food Kellogg s health foods and Fleischmann s yeast Wonder Foods shows how new products dazzled with visions of modernity efficiency and scientific progress even as they perpetuated exclusionary views about who deserved to eat thrive and live Drawing on extensive archival research historian Lisa Haushofer reveals that the story of modern food and nutrition was not about innocuous technological advances or superior scientific insights but rather about the powerful logic of exploitation and economization that undergirded colonial and industrial food projects In the process these wonder foods shaped both modern food regimes and how we think about
