Spencer, Spaces, Spatiality and Technology Phil Turner, Elisabeth Davenport, 2005-04-05 separated by the exigencies of the design life cycle into another compartment that makes invisible the prior technical work of engineers that is not directly pertinent to the application work of practitioners More recently and notably after the work of Greisemer and Star the black box has been opened and infrastructure has been discussed in terms of the social relations of an extended group of actors that includes developers Ethical and political issues are involved of accountable computing Writing broadly within this context Day chapter 11 proposes that the concept of surface can assist us to explore space as the product of power and the affective and expressive role for materials rather than the background to this Surfaces are the variously textured sites for mixtures between bodies and are thus the sites for events The notions of folding and foldability and unfolding are discussed at length as metaphors that account for the interactions of bodies in space across time Some of the contributors to this volume focus on ways in which we may experience multiple infrastructures Dix and his colleagues for example in chapter 12 explore a complex of models of spatial context of mixed reality boundaries and of human spatial understanding across a number of field projects that make up the Equator project to explain the ways in which co-existing multiple spaces are experienced Telepresence: Actual and Virtual Thomas B.
