Visualization In Landscape And Environmental Planning:

Visualization in Landscape and Environmental Planning Ian Bishop, Eckart Lange, 2005-05-10 An overview of issues involved in visualization technologies used in landscape and environmental planning Covers a classification of the technology as well as a number of specialized applications across agricultural industrial and urban planning

Visualizing Landscape Architecture Elke Mertens, 2009-10-16 We don't sell gardens we sell images of gardens This observation on the part of a landscape architect makes it clear just how important it is that a design be effectively communicated to the community clients and the public Drawings models simulations and films communicate the designers proposed ideas and solutions but they also convey their attitude toward the use of nature and the environment With myriad possibilities including computer programs as well as hand drawings and models which continue to be widely used and strong competition in the field there is now a huge variety of visual representations with agreed upon rules but also a great deal of freedom In three large sections this book sifts through the currently commonplace and available techniques and evaluates them in terms of their informative value and persuasive power always illustrating its points with analysis of examples from international firms An introductory look at the development thus far is followed by a systematic presentation of modes of representation in two three and four dimensions in the plane in space and in the temporal process The second section deals with the sequence within the workflow from the initial sketch through concept and implementation planning all the way to the finished product The third section deals with the strategic use of visualizations in the context of competitions future schemes and large scale landscape planning The focus in this section is not on the familiar use of the relevant techniques but rather on the methods and forms of visual representation in contemporary landscape architecture

Managing and Planning Landscape Change David Miller, Gary Fry, Chris P. Quine, Jane Morrice, 2016-07-08 As the importance of public participation in decision making relating to planning in both urban and non urban landscapes has increased in recent years there has been a significant expansion in the body of research into effective participatory methods including visualisation Building on the existing literature focusing on technical developments in visualisation this volume presents the findings of the multidisciplinary VisuLands project which explores the various dimensions integral to stakeholder involvement in environmental decisions These include details of the available tools but also important contextual issues such as awareness raising rural policy land use management and planning delivery of landscape related objectives and stakeholders environmental attitudes and preferences Throughout there is a theme of stakeholder involvement in identifying aspirations for future landscapes and using visualization tools both for exploring such landscapes and as mechanisms for increasing public awareness and understanding of landscape change While focusing largely on the linkages between rural policy and landscape development in the European Union the findings presented have important implications for both planners and stakeholders globally The book provides a valuable reference for advanced students and researchers interested in issues such as landscape design and management public participation sustainability and conservation as well as those with interests in geovisualisation and other technical dimensions of participatory methods

Modeling the Environment Bradley Cantrell, Natalie Yates, 2012-04-11 A single source guide to harnessing the power of 3D visualization tools for analysis and representation of landscapes Current technology allows designers to model environmental phenomena and space in new and exciting ways that go beyond the two dimensional plane The models illustrations and animations that can be created usher in a new paradigm of landscape representation that can become analytical tools as well as beautiful imagery The text focuses on digital modeling methods that can be used to express rich environments using digital tools to develop composite and animate scenes This full color book provides coverage of 3D visualization tools for land planning and landscape architecture The methods and theories in Modeling the Environment present landscape representation around a core set of ideas scene object terrain environment atmosphere time dynamics and the composite that centers representation on human experience Supported by www lab visual logic com a website offering tutorials and forums the text shows you how to use Autodesk 3ds Max to create dynamic landscape environments while also referring to a range of other tools including Google SketchUp Autodesk Maya and AutoCAD Civil 3D It also demonstrates how to integrate 3D visualization tools into existing workflows and offers critical coverage of intelligent drawings and representations giving you a glimpse at the future of the profession This book Includes sections intended to build upon one another in order to understand the environment as a composite representation of multiple systems interacting Shows how to integrate 3D visualization tools into existing workflows as opposed to offering an entirely new workflow Emphasizes modeling animation and simulation as both design analysis tools and presentation tools Modeling the Environment is essential reading for professionals in landscape architecture urban planning and design architecture and related disciplines who are looking to be at the forefront of technology
