

Walden by: Henry David Thoreau

I went to the woods because I wished to live deliberately, to front only the essential facts of life, and see if I could learn what it had to teach, and not, when I come to die, discover that I had not lived.

Hoeing, making the earth say beans instead of grass.

Move away from public opinion, from government, from religion, from education, from society, to meet myself face to face.

The mass of men lead lives of quiet desperation.

It is in vain to dream of a wilderness distant from ourselves.

The cost of a thing is the amount of life which is required to be exchanged for it.
