

The background of the book cover is a dark, atmospheric illustration of a city street at night. The scene is viewed through a window, with several spider webs draped across the glass, partially obscuring the view. The street below is dimly lit, with a few streetlights and a building with a prominent tower in the distance. The overall mood is mysterious and suspenseful.

From Life to Survival Robert Trumbull, 2022-01-04 Contemporary continental thought is marked by a move away from the linguistic turn in twentieth century European philosophy as new materialisms and ontologies seek to leave behind the thinking of language central to poststructuralism as it has been traditionally understood At the same time biopolitical philosophy has brought critical attention to the question of life examining new formations of life and death Within this broader turn Derridean deconstruction with its apparent focus on language writing and textuality is generally set aside This book by contrast shows the continued relevance of deconstruction for contemporary thought s engagement with resolutely material issues and with matters of life and the living Trumbull elaborates Derrida s thinking of life across his work specifically his recasting of life as life death and in turn survival or living on Derrida s activation of Freud Trumbull shows is central to this problematic and its consequences especially deconstruction s ethical and political possibilities The book traces how Derrida s early treatment of Freud and his mobilization of Freud s death drive allow us to grasp the deconstructive thought of life as constitutively exposed to death the logic subsequently rearticulated in the notion of survival Derrida s recasting of life as survival Trumbull demonstrates allows deconstruction to destabilize inherited understandings of life death and the political including the dominant configurations of sovereignty and the death penalty
