Prints and Visual Communication William M. Ivins, Jr., 1969-07-15 The sophistication of the photographic process has had two dramatic results freeing the artist from the confines of journalistic reproductions and freeing the scientist from the unavoidable imprecision of the artist's prints. So released both have prospered and produced their impressive nineteenth and twentieth century outputs. It is this premise that William M. Ivins Jr. elaborates in Prints and Visual Communication, a history of printmaking from the crudest wood block through engraving and lithography to Talbot's discovery of the negative-positive photographic process and its far-reaching consequences.

Semiotics and Visual Communication III Evripides Zantides, 2019-11-12 The chapters in this book consist of selected papers that were presented at the 3rd International Conference and Poster Exhibition on Semiotics and Visual Communication at the Cyprus University of Technology in November 2017. They investigate the theme of the third conference, 'The Semiotics of Branding', and look at branding and brand design as endorsing a reputation and inhabiting a status of almost mythical proportion that has triumphed over the past few decades. Emerging from its forerunner corporate identity to incorporate advertising, consumer lifestyles and attitudes, image rights, market research, customisation, global expansion, sound and semiotics, and the consumer as the brand, the word branding currently appears to be bigger than its own umbrella definition. From tribal markers such as totems, scarifications and tattoos to emblems of power, language, fashion, architectural space, insignias of communal groups, heraldic devices, religious and political symbols, national flags and the like, a form of branding is at work that responds to the need to determine the presence and interaction of specific groups, persons or institutions through shared codes of meaning.

Visual Communication and Image Processing '91, 1991 Visual Communication David Machin, 2014-04-30 The primary goal of the volume on Visual Communication is to provide a collection of high quality, accessible papers that offer an overview of the different academic approaches to Visual Communication, the different theoretical perspectives on which they are based, the methods of analysis used, and the different media and genre that have come under analysis. There is no such existing volume that draws together this range of closely related material generally found in much less related areas of research including semiotics, art history, design, and new media theory. The volume has a total of 34 individual chapters that are organized into two sections: theories and methods, and areas of visual analysis. The chapters are all written by quality theorists and researchers with a view that the research should be accessible to non-specialists in their own field while at the same time maintaining a high quality of work. The volume contains an introduction which plots and locates the different approaches contained in it within broader developments and history of approaches to visual communication across different disciplines, as each has attempted to define its terrain, sometimes through unique concepts and methods, sometimes through those borrowed and modified from others.

Visual Communication Susan Hilligoss, Tharon Howard, 2001-08 Studies in Visual Communication, 1981 Visual Communication Theory and Research S. Fahmy, M. Bock, W. research field is fragmented into several sub areas making study difficult Fahmy Bock and Wanta note trends and discuss the challenges of conducting analysis of images across print broadcast and online media
