Varieties of Human Value Charles William Morris,1956 The present study begun in 1945 Is in part the outgrowth of my earlier book Paths of Life published in 1942 In that book s interpretation of religious attitudes and ethical systems past and present three basic dimensions of value were postulated and seven possible value patterns were analyzed in terms of those dimensions The seventh of the patterns or life orientations had never been manifested by a major social group but it was felt that the pattern held promise for man s future Such an analysis of patterned dimensional human values seemed worthy of sustained and critical investigation The belief that a scientific study of values might also advance the enterprise of the humanities was in part related to the philosophical tradition of American pragmatism Peirce James Dewey Mead and Lewis were major influences on my thinking and they had all believed that evaluations were much like scientific judgments and with some variations that a scientific study of values and evaluations not only was possible but would be of service to man in his characteristic activity as valuer It seemed desirable to put this philosophic position to a serious empirical test Preface p vii

Changeux,Antonio Damasio,Wolf Singer,2006-03-30 Man has been pondering for centuries over the basis of his own ethical and aesthetic values Until recent times such issues were primarily fed by the thinking of philosophers moralists and theologians or by the findings of historians or sociologists relating to universality or variations in these values within various populations Science has avoided this field of investigation within the confines of philosophy Beyond the temptation to stay away from the field of knowledge science may also have felt itself unconcerned by the study of human values for a simple heuristic reason namely the lack of tools allowing objective study For the same reason researchers tended to avoid the study of feelings or consciousness until over the past two decades this became a focus of interest for many neuroscientists It is apparent that many questions linked to research in the field of neuroscience are now arising The hope is that this book will help to formulate them more clearly rather than skirting them The authors do not wish to launch a new moral philosophy but simply to gather objective knowledge for reflection A Grammar of Human Values Otto von Mering,1961 The Churchman ,1925 History and Precedent in Environmental Design Anatol Rapoport,2013-06-29 This book is about a new and different way of approaching and studying the history of the built environment and the use of historical precedents in design However although what I am proposing is new for what is currently called architectural history both my approach and even my conclusions are not that new in other fields as I discovered when I attempted to find supporting evidence In fact of all the disciplines dealing with various aspects of the study of the past architectural history seems to have changed least in the ways I am advocating There is currently a revival of interest in the history of architecture and urban form a similar interest applies to theory vernacular design and culture environment relations After years of neglect the study of history and the use of historical precedent are again becoming important However that interest has not led to new approaches to the subject nor have its bases been examined This I try to do In so doing I discuss a more rigorous and I would argue a more valid way of looking at historical data and hence of using such data in a theory of the built environment and as precedent in environmental design Underlying this is my view of Environment Behavior Studies CEBS as an emerging theory rather than as data to help design based on current theory Although this will be the subject of another book a summary statement of this position may be useful The American Journal of Sociology Albion W.
