Power Structure Research G. William Domhoff, 1980-03. Brings together contributions by some of the leading young researchers in the field of power structure research: the study of how the upper class is positioned within society. They describe the current state of the subfield and what further lines of investigation are being pursued. Topics include the family office, the backing of ballot initiatives, businessmen in governmental advisory committees, and how businessmen work to influence local politics. For this anthology, Domhoff has assembled 10 original essays on the distribution and exercise of power. Most of the essays bring new research data to bear on these debates, which point to a relatively cohesive and pervasive capitalist class that attempts to dominate politics.

Opportunity Charles Spurgeon Johnson, 1939. Social Class and Peer Group Status Among School Children in a Small Community Jon A. Doerflinger, 1957. Journal of the Franklin Institute Franklin Institute (Philadelphia, Pa.), 1923. Vols 1-69 include more or less complete patent reports of the U.S. Patent Office for years 1825-59.

The University of Tennessee Record University of Tennessee (Knoxville campus), 1900. Coping with Social Change Adam Mrozowicki, 2011. Manual workers tend to be represented as disoriented victims of post-socialist transformation, but how can such an approach explain the diversity of the actual ways of coping with social change adopted by workers in the new capitalist reality? To address this question, the author turns to workers themselves to their life strategies and personal experiences. He reconstructs the processes of adapting to and resisting structural changes in working class milieus in one of the industrial regions of Poland, Silesia.
