Situating Composition Composition Studies And The:

Situating Composition Ede, Lisa, 2004 Responding to a growing pedagogical paralysis in debates over the nature and status of composition studies as an academic discipline Lisa Ede offers a provocative inquiry into the politics of composition's place in the academy The result is a timely and engaging reflection on the rhetoric ideology and ethics of scholarship and instruction in composition studies today

Situating Writing Processes Hannah J. Rule, 2019 Situating Writing Processes adds a physical and material dimension to the writing process histories theory and pedagogy in composition studies Shifting contemporary process teaching away from routine sameness and strategy and toward responsivity difference and improvisation this book helps writing teachers reimagine a critical pedagogical concept and position student writers to locate composing within dynamic and unforeseen contexts

Keywords in Writing Studies Paul Heilker, John Vandenberg, 2015-02-15 Keywords in Writing Studies is an exploration of the principal ideas and ideals of an emerging academic field as they are constituted by its specialized vocabulary A sequel to the 1996 work Keywords in Composition Studies this new volume traces the evolution of the field's lexicon taking into account the wide variety of theoretical educational professional and institutional developments that have redefined it over the past two decades Contributors address the development transformation and interconnections among thirty six of the most critical terms that make up writing studies Looking beyond basic definitions or explanations they explore the multiple layers of meaning within the terms that writing scholars currently use exchange and question Each term featured is a part of the general disciplinary parlance and each is a highly contested focal point of significant debates about matters of power identity and values Each essay begins with the assumption that its central term is important precisely because its meaning is open and multiplex Keywords in Writing Studies reveals how the key concepts in the field are used and even challenged rather than advocating particular usages and the particular vision of the field that they imply The volume will be of great interest to both graduate students and established scholars

The Writing Center as Cultural and Interdisciplinary Contact Zone Randall W. Monty, 2016-05-05 Writing centers are complex They are places of scholarly work spaces of interdisciplinary interaction and programs of service among other things With this complexity in mind this book theorizes writing center studies as a function of its own rhetorical and discursive practices In other words the things we do and make define who we are and what we value Through a comprehensive methodological framework grounded in critical discourse analysis this book takes a closer look at prominent writing center discourses by temporarily shifting attention away from the stakeholders work locations and scholarship of the discipline and onto things the artifacts and networks that make up the discipline Through this approach we can see the ways the discipline reinforces challenges reproduces and subverts structures of institutional power As a result writing center studies can be seen a vast ecosystem of interconnectivity and intertextuality

The Present State of Scholarship in the History of Rhetoric Lynée Lewis Gaillet, Winifred Bryan Horner, 2010-03-15 Through two previous editions The Present State of Scholarship in Historical and Contemporary Rhetoric has not only introduced new scholars to interdisciplinary research but also become a standard research tool in a number of fields and pointed the way toward future study Adopting research methodologies of revision and recovery this latest edition includes all new material while still following the format of the original and is constructed around bibliographical surveys of both primary and secondary works addressing the Classical Medieval Renaissance and eighteenth through twentieth century periods within the history of rhetoric The Present State of Scholarship in the History of Rhetoric doesn't simply update but rather recasts study in the history of rhetoric The authors experienced and well known scholars in their respective fields redefine existing strands of rhetorical study within the periods expand the scope of rhetorical engagement and include additional figures and their works The globalization and expansion of rhetoric are demonstrated in each of these parts and seen clearly in the inclusion of more female rhetors discussions of historical and contemporary electronic resources and examinations of rhetorical practices falling outside the academy and the traditional canon New to this edition is a cumulative review of twentieth century rhetoric along with a thematic index designed to facilitate interdisciplinary or specialized study and scholarly research across the traditional historical periods As programs incorporating rhetorical studies continue to expand at the university level students and researchers are in need of up to date bibliographical resources No other work matches the scope and approach of The Present State of Scholarship in the History of Rhetoric which carries scholarship on rhetoric into the twenty first century

Reframing the Subject Kelly Ritter, 2016-01-23 Mental hygiene films developed for classroom use touted vigilance correct behavior morality and model citizenship They also became powerful tools for teaching literacy skills and literacy based behaviors to young people following the Second World War In this study Kelly Ritter offers an extensive theoretical analysis of the alliance of the value systems inherent in mental hygiene films class based ideals democracy patriotism with writing education an alliance that continues today by way of the mass digital technologies used in teaching online She further details the larger material and cultural forces at work in the production of these films behind the scenes and their effects on education trends Through her examination of literacy theory instructional films policy documents and textbooks of the late 1940s to mid 1950s Ritter demonstrates a reliance on pedagogies that emphasize institutional ideologies and correctness over epistemic complexity and de-emphasize the role of the student in his or her own learning process To Ritter these practices are sustained in today's pedagogies and media that create a false promise of social uplift through formalized education instead often resulting in negative material consequences

Before Shaughnessy Kelly Ritter, 2009-08-06 In Before Shaughnessy Basic Writing at Yale and Harvard 1920-1960 Kelly Ritter uses materials from the archives at Harvard and Yale and contemporary theories of writing instruction to reconsider the definition of basic writing and basic writers within a socio-historical context Ritter challenges the association of basic writing with only poorly funded institutions and poorly prepared students Using Yale and Harvard as two sample case studies Ritter shows that basic writing courses were alive and well even in the Ivy League in the early twentieth century She argues not only that basic writers exist across institutional types and diverse student populations but that the prevalence of these writers has existed far more historically than we generally acknowledge Uncovering this forgotten history of basic writing at elite institutions Ritter contends that the politics and problems of the identification and the definition of basic writers and basic writing began long before the work of Mina Shaughnessy in Errors and Expectations and the rise of open admissions Indeed she illustrates how the problems and politics have been with us since the advent of English A at Harvard and the heightened consumer based policies that resulted in the new admissions criteria of the early twentieth century American university In order to recognize this long standing reality of basic writing we must now reconsider whether the nearly standardized nationalized definition of basic is any longer a beneficial one for the positive growth and democratic development of our first year writing programs and students

Changing of Knowledge in Composition Lance Massey, Richard C. Gephardt, 2011-07-16 Lance Massey and Richard Gebhardt offer in this collection many signs that composition again faces a moment of precariousness even as it did in the 1980s the years of the great divorce from literary studies The contours of writing in the university again are rapidly changing making the objects of scholarship in composition again unstable Composition is poised to move not from modern to postmodern but from process to postprocess from a service oriented field to a research driven discipline Some would say we are already there Momentum is building to replace composition and the pedagogical imperative long implied in that term with a writing studies model devoted to the study of composition as a fundamental tool of and force within all areas of human activity Appropriately contributors here use Stephen M North's 1987 book The Making of Knowledge in Composition to frame and background their discussion as they look at both the present state of the field and its potential futures As in North's volume The Changing of Knowledge in Composition describes a body of research and pedagogy brimming with conflicting claims methodologies and politics and with little consensus regarding the proper subjects and modes of inquiry The deep ambivalence within the field itself is evident in this collection Contributors here envision composition both as retaining its commitment to broad based generalized writing instruction and as heading toward content based vertical writing programs in departments and programs of writing studies They both challenge and affirm composition's pedagogical heritage And they sound both sanguine and pessimistic notes about composition's future

Exploring Composition Studies Kelly Ritter, Paul Kei Matsuda, 2012-04-30 Kelly Ritter and Paul Kei Matsuda have created an essential introduction to the field of composition studies for graduate students and instructors new to the study of writing The book offers a careful exploration of this diverse field focusing specifically on scholarship of writing and composing Within this territory the authors draw the boundaries broadly to include allied sites of research such as professional and technical writing writing across the curriculum programs writing centers and writing program administration Importantly they represent composition as a dynamic eclectic field influenced by factors both within the academy and without The editors and their sixteen seasoned contributors have created a comprehensive and thoughtful exploration of composition studies as it stands in the early twenty first century Given the rapid growth of this field and the evolution of it research and pedagogical agendas over even the last ten years this multi vocal introduction is long overdue

The Locations of Composition Christopher J. Keller,Christian R. Weisser,2007-07-05
The Locations of Composition examines how spaces places and locations define problematize and shape composition studies From a wide variety of perspectives including critical theory rhetoric cultural geography genre theory postcolonial studies and media studies the contributors explore the disciplinary boundaries and authority of composition studies how teachers of writing can engage students in more place centered pedagogies and how compositionists can sort through the often hidden and intricate relationships between and among composition s places The book reveals the complex ways that places are central to the field s history identity and ability to move and change

Professing Literacy in Composition Studies Peter N. Goggin,2008 This book explores the following key questions What is literacy What do we mean when we profess literacy How can we create a theoretical map of writing studies in which to locate the ways we define and situate our notions and assumptions about literacy The author addresses these questions by mapping the ideological perspectives on literacy that inform the field s theoretical terrain

Teaching in Progress Josephine A. Koster,Josephine K. Tarvers,1998-01-23
Process This Nancy DeJoy,2004-10 In Process This Nancy DeJoy argues that even recent revisions to composition studies cultural studies service learning and social process movements continue to repress the subjects and methodologies that should be central especially at the level of classroom practice Designed to move student discourses beyond the classroom these approaches nonetheless continue to position composition students and teachers as mere consumers of the discipline This means that the subjects methodologies and theory practice relationships that define the field are often absent in composition classrooms Arguing that the world inside and outside of the academy cannot be any different if the profession stays the same DeJoy creates a pedagogy and a plan for faculty development that revisions the prewrite write rewrite triad to open spaces for participation and contribution to all members of first year writing classrooms

Choice ,2005 Doing Emotion Laura R. Micciche,2007 That the emotional realities of teaching have changed significantly over the past decade is undeniable Doing Emotion provides much needed guidance both on understanding these changes and on imagining a responsive pedagogy for these emotionally fraught times a pedagogy grounded not in fear but in hope for better times Richard E Miller For Laura Micciche emotion is neither the enemy of reason nor an irrational response to actions and ideas Rather she argues in the provocative and groundbreaking Doing Emotion that emotion is integral to research discussion analysis and argument that is to the essential fabric of rhetoric and composition Doing Emotion argues for a rhetoric of emotion by foregrounding the idea that emotions are performative enacted and embodied in our social interactions produced between and among individuals and textual objects Emotion is something we do rather than something we have Micciche explores the implications of this claim in the context of writing classrooms administrative structures and the formation of disciplinary identity Drawing upon current research in emotion studies performance studies and feminist rhetorical studies Micciche argues that a shift in our thinking about emotion leads to productive possibilities for teaching and learning Rather than repressing and denying emotionality Micciche demands that we acknowledge its constitutive role in our professional and pedagogical lives as well as in our evolving understandings of textual and extralinguistic meanings Marginal

Words, Marginal Work? William J. Macauley, Nicholas Mauriello, 2007 How can we tutor our campus communities administrators faculty and students toward the most effective use of writing center resources Based on the premise that writing centers know how to guide learners toward more productive and successful work this volume includes scholarship that provides historical theoretical and practical guidance for both writing centers and their campus communities This collection focuses on helping the academy understand writing centers and more importantly articulates how writing centers move beyond remediation and become centers of learning and teaching through fostering productive working relationships

Wadsworth Handbook 8e-Instructors Edition Laurie G. Kirszner, Stephen R. Mandell, 2007-04 The Instructor s Edition previews the features that save you time and help students learn and demonstrates how to integrate our powerful supplements into your curriculum The End of Composition Studies David W Smit, 2007-03-29 Setting forth an innovative new model for what it means to be a writing teacher in the era of writing across the curriculum The End of Composition Studies urges a reconceptualization of graduate work in rhetoric and composition systematically critiques the limitations of current pedagogical practices at the postsecondary level and proposes a reorganization of all academic units David W Smit calls into question two major assumptions of the field that writing is a universal ability and that college level writing is foundational to advanced learning Instead Smit holds writing involves a wide range of knowledge and skill that cannot be learned solely in writing classes but must be acquired by immersion in various discourse communities in and out of academic settings The End of Composition Studies provides a compelling rhetoric and rationale for eliminating the field and reenvisioning the profession as truly interdisciplinary a change that is necessary in order to fulfill the needs and demands of students instructors administrators and our democratic society JAC, 2007 The Academic Writer Lisa Ede, 2010-12-27

Written in Lisa Ede s accessible supportive style The Academic Writer is an affordable brief guide to the essentials of academic writing and research By framing writing situations in terms of the writer reader text and medium the text helps students think rhetorically and make effective choices as they write Abundant student models advice on writing in the disciplines and attention to visuals and design make this text a perfect introduction to college writing at a great price
