Stout,2019-03-19 A masterful study by a preeminent scholar that situates Cather as a visionary practitioner of literary modernism Willa Cather is often pegged as a regionalist a feminine and domestic writer or a social realist In Cather Among the Moderns Janis P Stout firmly situates Cather as a visionary practitioner of literary modernism something other scholars have hinted at but rarely affirmed Stout presents Cather on a large dramatic stage among a sizable cast of characters and against a brightly lit social and historical backdrop invoking numerous figures and instances from the broad movement in the arts and culture that we call modernism Early on Stout addresses the matter of gender The term cross dresser has often been applied to Cather but Stout sees Cather s identity as fractured or ambiguous a reading that links her firmly to early twentieth century modernity Later chapters take up topics of significance both to Cather and to twentieth century American modernists including shifting gender roles World War I s devastation of social and artistic norms and strains in racial relations She explores Cather s links to a small group of modernists who after the war embraced life in New Mexico a destination of choice for many artists and which led to two of Cather's most fully realized modernist novels The Professor's House and Death Comes for the Archbishop. The last chapter addresses Cather's place within modernism. Stout first places her in relation to Ezra Pound and T. S. Eliot with their shared ties to tradition even while making sometimes startling innovations in literary form then showing parallels with William Faulkner with respect to economic disparity and social injustice. Commonweal, 1930. Keeping Fires Night and Day Dorothy Canfield Fisher, 1993. When her best-selling novels made her the chief breadwinner in her marriage her husband John Fisher assumed the role of secretary and editor of her work. Fluent in five languages Dorothy Canfield Fisher founded a Braille press in France and introduced the educational methods of Dr. Maria Montessori to the United States. She became a pioneering advocate of adult education and served as the first woman on the Vermont Board of Education. In letters to friends, fans, and colleagues Fisher discussed her homelife, her work, and the world around her. Her passions and concerns revealed in her correspondence with wit and poignancy include the New Woman and the suffrage movement, racial discrimination, and the emergence of the NAACP, the development of a national education system, two world wars, the depression, and the influence of book clubs in the literary marketplace. Saturday Review of Literature, 1930. Indiana University Studies Clyde Arnett Malott, 1928. Gold Production and Prices Before and After the World War Lionel Danforth Edie, 1928. The Valley Form and Its Development ; Base-level and Its Varieties Clyde A.
