

Sky Paintings

Sir Alfred East

Sky Paintings:

John Constable's Skies John E. Thornes, John Constable, 1999-01-01 John Constable is arguably the most accomplished painter of English skies and weather of all time For Constable the sky was the keynote the standard of scale and the chief organ of sentiment in a landscape painting But how far did he understand the workings of the forces of nature which created his favourite cumulus clouds portrayed in so many of his skies over the landscapes of Hampstead Heath Salisbury and Suffolk And were the skies he painted scientifically accurate In this lucid and accessible study John Thornes provides a meteorological framework for reading the skies of landscape art compares Constable's skies to those produced by other artists from the middle ages to the nineteenth century analyses Constable's own meteorological understanding and examines the development of his painted skies In so doing he provides fresh evidence to identify the year of painting of some of Constable's previously undated cloud studies

Computational Approaches in the Transfer of Aesthetic Values from Paintings to Photographs Xiaoyan Zhang, Martin Constable, Kap Luk Chan, Jinze Yu, Wang Junyan, 2017-07-18 This book examines paintings using a computational and quantitative approach Specifically it compares paintings to photographs addressing the strengths and limitations of both Particular aesthetic practices are examined such as the vista foreground to background organisation and the depth planes These are analysed using a range of computational approaches and clear observations are made New generations of image capture devices such as Google goggles and the light field camera promise a future in which the formal attributes of a photograph are made available for editing to a degree that has hitherto been the exclusive territory of painting In this sense paintings and photographs are converging and it therefore seems an opportune time to study the comparisons between them In this context the book includes cutting edge work examining how some of the aesthetic attributes of a painting can be transferred to a photograph using the latest computational approaches
