Boccaccio Hubertis Maurice Cummings, 1965 Lacan's Medievalism Erin Felicia Labbie, One of the foundational premises of Jacques Lacan's psychoanalytical project was that the history of philosophy concealed the history of desire and one of the goals of his work was to show how desire is central to philosophical thinking In Lacan's Medievalism Erin Felicia Labbie demonstrates how Lacan's theory of desire is bound to his reading of medieval texts She not only alters the relationship between psychoanalysis and medieval studies but also illuminates the ways that premodern and postmodern epochs and ideologies share a concern with the subject the unconscious and language thus challenging notions of strict epistemological cuts Lacan's psychoanalytic work contributes to the medieval debate about universals by revealing how the unconscious relates to the category of the real By analyzing the systematic adherence to dialectics and the idealization of the hard sciences Lacan's Medievalism asserts that we must take into account the play of language and desire within the unconscious and literature in order to understand the way that we know things in the world and the manner in which order is determined

Female Beauty Systems Christine Adams, Tracy Adams, 2015-09-04 Female beauty systems everywhere are complex integrating markers of class status power and sexuality to perform the fundamental function of sorting individuals into categories of more or less desirable Heirs to the tradition of courtly love modern western female beauty systems tend to share the norm of man as pursuer woman as pursued having developed around the trope of the madly desiring poet or knight supplicating his aloof and lovely lady for her favor The apparent longevity of the courtly love tradition raises the question of whether the way in which it structures male desire in reaction to female beauty is part of a universal tendency an evolutionary adaptation despite clear evidence that female beauty systems are also in fact socially constructed and reflect enormous ambivalence about the power and performance of beauty Although modern western female beauty systems are routinely demystified and contested today the purveyors of culture that support them institutional intellectual artistic commercial and popular continue as they always have to construe women as objects of male desire Still within this basic structure the systems have varied greatly across time and space with women using beauty as a form of social capital in widely differing ways Moreover as individuals have begun to experience their bodies as malleable and endlessly transformable rather than unruly and unyielding many have begun to experience beauty less as a given and more as a project The nine essays collected here examine a number of different Western female beauty systems over the centuries considering how women have complied with contributed to profited or suffered from and resisted them
