In Doctor No's Garden Henry Shukman, 2011-05-31 With this assured and powerful first collection Henry Shukman springs fully formed into the poetry world having already won a raft of prizes for individual poems His sensibility is unique engaging and immediate we are drawn into the worlds of these poems by his accurate eye his sensual line and the warmth of his communion with the scene he describes Ranging across the globe

from Mexico to Japan from the States to Southern England these poems can be lyrical and deeply affecting wryly funny or wildly imaginative From a lonely mother attempting to learn the piano to a ski jump that never ends from a redemptive encounter with horses on a cold day to a miraculous bowl of chicken soup these poems display a vibrancy and variety rarely seen in contemporary poetry But Shukman's great strength is in the domestic the complexities of love and the rites of passage of childhood and parenthood are re-entered with candor grace and originality In Doctor No's Garden is an affectionate refreshing debut striking in its imagery and insight remarkable for its lightness of touch and emotional weight

The Beatles as Musicians Walter Everett, 1999 Given the phenomenal fame and commercial success that the Beatles knew for the entire course of their familiar career their music per se has received surprisingly little detailed attention Not all of their cultural influence can be traced to long hair and flashy clothing the Beatles had numerous fresh ideas about melody harmony counterpoint rhythm form colors and textures Or consider how much new ground was broken by their lyrics alone both the themes and imagery of the Beatles poetry are key parts of what made and still makes this group so important so popular and so imitated This book is a comprehensive chronological study of every aspect of the Fab Four's musical life including full examinations of composition performance practice recording and historical context during their transcendent late period 1966-1970 Rich authoritative interpretations are interwoven through a documentary study of many thousands of audio print and other sources

Perihelion Sarah Law, 2006 Prepare for some adventures in Perihelion These poems evoke shifting states of mind and heart from childhood terrors to the wisdom of the mystic with all the twists of love doubt and insight which come in between There are monsters in this collection but are they generated by science fiction or the psyche there is grace there is art and there is longing In her writing Sarah Law traces the dynamics of relationship and of solitude pushing lyric poetry to a playful complexity but allowing the poignancy of our human condition to flow through each poem Sarah Law studied literature at Cambridge and London universities and currently teaches literature and creative writing at the University of East Anglia Norwich She has two poetry collections published by Stride Bliss Tangle 1999 The Lady Chapel 2003 This is her third collection
