Teaching English Through Art:

Teaching English Through the Arts Robert Baird Shuman, Denny T. Wolfe, 1990 Maintaining that the arts are composing activities and like talking and writing powerful ways of making meaning this book discusses teaching English through the arts The book provides a brief theoretical and historical basis for its fundamental approach and presents 29 instructional strategies that classroom teachers who do not have special equipment materials or preparation in the arts can incorporate into their teaching The book is intended as a compact supplement a starter kit to be creatively adapted to specific classrooms to help students make stimulating connections between English and some of the arts they know best popular music film photography design drawing and painting and drama Following a brief discussion of the theoretical and research based support for their ideas the book presents 15 activities that focus on language dialects usage and structure semantics and etymology nine that focus on literature and five that focus on writing A 50 item bibliography concludes the book SR

Learning to Teach English and the Language Arts Peter Smagorinsky, 2020-04-16 Drawing together Smagorinsky's extensive research over a 20 year period Learning to Teach English and the Language Arts explores how beginning teachers pedagogical concepts are shaped by a variety of influences Challenging popular thinking about the binary roles of teacher education programs and school based experiences in the process of learning to teach Smagorinsky illustrates through case studies in the disciplines of English and the Language Arts that teacher education programs and classroom school contexts are not discrete contexts for learning about teaching nor are each of these contexts unified in the messages they offer about teaching He explores the tensions not only between these contexts and others but within them to illustrate the social cultural contextual political and historical complexity of learning to teach Smagorinsky revisits familiar theoretical understandings including Vygotsky's concept development and Lortie's apprenticeship of observation to consider their implications for teachers today and to examine what teacher candidates learn during their teacher education experiences and how that learning shapes their development as teachers to her work with arts in the schools Colonized Through Art Marinella Lentis,2017 Colonized through Art explores how the federal government used art education for American Indian children as an instrument for the colonization of consciousness hoping to instill the values and ideals of Western society while simultaneously maintaining a political social economic and racial hierarchy Focusing on the Albuquerque Indian School in New Mexico the Sherman Institute in Riverside California and the world s fairs and local community exhibitions Marinella Lentis examines how the U S government s solution to the Indian problem at the end of the nineteenth century emphasized education and assimilation Educational theories at the time viewed art as the foundation of morality and as a way to promote virtues and personal improvement These theories made the subject of art a natural tool for policy makers and educators to use in achieving their assimilationist goals of turning student savages into civilized men and women Despite such educational regimes for students however indigenous ideas about art oftentimes emerged from below particularly from well known art teachers such as Arizona Swayney and Angel DeCora

Colonized through Art explores how American Indian schools taught children to abandon their cultural heritage and produce artificially native crafts that were exhibited at local and international fairs The purchase of these crafts by the general public turned students work into commodities and schools into factories Report of the Commissioner of Education [with Accompanying Papers]. United States. Bureau of Education,1912 Journal of Education ,1904 History of Bilingual Education in the Northern Territory Brian Clive Devlin,Samantha Disbray,Nancy Regine Friedman Devlin,2017-03-07 This book provides the first detailed history of the Bilingual Education Program in the Northern Territory of Australia This ambitious and innovative program began in 1973 and at different times it operated in English and 19 Aboriginal languages in 29 very remote schools The book draws together the grassroots perspectives of Indigenous and non Indigenous practitioners and researchers Each chapter is based on rich practitioner experience capturing bottom up aspirations achievements and reflections on this innovative yet largely undocumented language and education program The volume also makes use of a significant collection of grey literature documents to trace the history of the program An ethnographic approach has been used to integrate practitioner accounts into the contexts of broader social and political forces education policy decisions and on the ground actions Language in education policy is viewed at multiple intersecting levels from the interactions of individuals communities of practice and bureaucracy to national and global forces The book offers valuable insights as it examines in detail the policy settings that helped and hindered bilingual education in the context of minority language rights in Australia and elsewhere English Mechanic and Mirror of Science and Art ,1885 The Chosen Educational Ordinance and Various Attendant Regulations Korea,1912 Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature ,1922 The Americana ,1914 Biennial Report Illinois.
