James Webb Young (1965)
New York, US: McGraw-Hill Professional
64 pp.

As a key stakeholder who is recognised as a designer of high aesthetic building space as well as a leader and coordinator in conventional architectural project developments, an architect has to be well-prepared for such a challenging task. Skills and knowledge, therefore, have to be constantly renewed and created in the fragmented industry structure. One systematic solution can be learned from the highly creative advertising industry where the right idea is crucial for the success of a task.

This little classic book written by the legendary James Webb Young (1886-1973) in 1965 can be a good start to systematically create new ideas. Contents of the book were written from Young's extensive experience in U.S. advertising from the time he started working at J. Walter Thompson advertising agency as a copy writer in 1912 to the top of his career as a vice president in 1928. They were presented to graduate students at the University of Chicago's Business School where he was a professor from 1931 to 1939 and with a number of gatherings with active advertising people to inspire people to conceive.

In order to develop idea creation capacity by energetic persons who can spot opportunities to make things better, two major principles have to be initially recognised. Firstly, ideas have to be perceived as new combinations of old elements. Secondly, people involved have the ability to see relationship to extract a general principle that a new application and a new combination leading to new idea can be created. Once the two principles are accepted, a 5-stage method to successively create new ideas can be introduced.

In the very first stage of this sequential research based method, Gathering of raw materials, two sets of them has to be explored. The first is a set of specific materials from both primary and secondary sources. They can be found once existing problems, problematic conditions or interesting phenomena are reviewed. For example, specific materials are, in architectural design context, users' space requirements. Moreover, theories, concepts, research findings also have to be reviewed to find potential solutions for such problems. The crucial second set of general materials in a wide scope of topics and issues including life, culture and events has to be consistently developing in a lifelong process to create one's reservoir of information.

Once all information is ready, it is time to working over materials in one's mind. Bits of information can be played inside one's head using

HAPPY READING Just Doing It: A History of Advertising Pia Elliott,2014-10-09 The purpose of the book is to provide an overall view of advertising in the twentieth century while filling in the gap of information that exists in Italy where just a few names are known The book also provides a leading thread about those professionals who in the second half of the 20th century were the protagonists of the creative revolution and whose influence has been seminal on both American and English advertising The book has no historical intentions nor aims at classifying people into schools or categories as such an approach would be pretentious and inadequate in a profession so deeply entangled with economics and consumer attitudes The content in brief The book is made up of short biographies of famous and well known advertising people mainly art directors and copywriters interspersed with a few explanatory chapters that are simply summaries on certain subjects For instance The Big Agencies outlines the origins of historical agencies such as J W Thompson BBDO and Young Rubicam The State of Things explains what happened after the so called Creative Revolution The Spot Makers presents people like Howard Zieff Joe Pytka Rick Levine and Bob Giraldi Old School Ties and Colonels is about British advertising before Collett Dickinson and Pearce La Grande Parade depicts the peculiarities of French advertising and Carosello and its Victims explains the unusual features of the Italian Carosello an early TV format that hosted commercials etc Biographies are structured differently along the lines of individual stories and generally tend to highlight the meaningful events in one s career rather than their early life and experiences This way of telling a story is of course somewhat influenced by the author s experiences and point of view and represents the original aspect of the book Among the influentials Americans and Britons outnumber French and Italians A final section with Contributions by various authors and famous copywriters Gossage Della Femina Abbott S gu la Marcantonio Pirella etc completes the book
