French, 1979 The scope of morality Peter A French contends is much narrower than many traditional and contemporary works in ethical theory suggest We trivialize morality if we think it has something to say about everything we do it touches us all but not at all      Imagination and Principles M. Coeckelbergh, 2007-10-17 What does it mean to say that imagination plays a role in moral reasoning and what are the theoretical and practical implications Engaging with three traditions in moral theory and confronting them with three contexts of moral practice this book comprehensively explores these questions and the relation between imagination and principles      The Blood of the Poor Godfrey Blount, 1911      Towards the Brotherhood of Nations Bolton C. Waller, 1921
Dissertations for the Doctorate in Sacred Theology Catholic University of America, 1895      The British Quarterly Review Henry Allon, 1880      The Moral Life Arthur Ernest Davies, 1909      The British Quarterly Review , 1880      Ethics; Modern Conception of the Principles of Right John L. Mothershead, 1955      The Limits of Moral Obligation Marcel van Ackeren, Michael Kühler, 2015-09-16 This volume responds to the growing interest in finding explanations for why moral claims may lose their validity based on what they ask of their addressees Two main ideas relate to that question the moral demandingness objection and the principle ought implies can Though both of these ideas can be understood to provide an answer to the same question they have usually been discussed separately in the philosophical literature The aim of this collection is to provide a focused and comprehensive discussion of these two ideas and the ways in which they relate to one another and to take a closer look at the consequences for the limits of moral normativity in general Chapters engage with contemporary discussions surrounding ought implies can as well as current debates on moral demandingness and argue that applying the moral demandingness objection to the entire range of normative ethical theories also calls for an analysis of its metaethical presuppositions The contributions to this volume are at the leading edge of ethical theory and have implications for moral theorists philosophers of action and those working in metaethics theoretical ethics and applied ethics      Niagara Index , 1905      The Development of Ethics, Volume 3 Terence Irwin, 2007 This book is a selective historical and critical study of moral philosophy in the Socratic tradition with special attention to Aristotelian naturalism It discusses the main topics of moral philosophy as they have developed historically including the human good human nature justice friendship and morality the methods of moral inquiry the virtues and their connexions will freedom and responsibility reason and emotion relativism subjectivism and realism the theological aspect of morality The first volume discusses ancient and mediaeval moral philosophy The second volume examines early modern moral philosophy from the 16th to the 18th century This third volume continues the story up to Rawls s Theory of Justice A comparison between the Kantian and the Aristotelian outlook is one central theme of the third volume The chapters on Kant compare Kant both with his rationalist and empiricist predecessors and with the Aristotelian naturalist tradition Reactions to Kant are traced through Hegel Schopenhauer Nietzsche and

Kierkegaard Utilitarian and idealist approaches to Kantian and Aristotelian views are traced through Sidgwick Bradley and Green Mill and Sidgwick provide a link between 18th century rationalism and sentimentalism and the 20th century debates in the metaphysics and epistemology of morality These debates are explored in Moore Ross Stevenson Hare C I Lewis Heidegger and in some more recent meta ethical discussion This volume concludes with a discussion of Rawls with special emphasis on a comparison of his position with utilitarianism intuitionism Kantianism naturalism and idealism Since this book seeks to be not only descriptive and exegetical but also philosophical it discusses the comparative merits of different views the difficulties that they raise and how some of the difficulties might be resolved It presents the leading moral philosophers of the past as participants in a rational discussion in which the contemporary reader can participate

The Law of Private Right George Hugh Smith, 1890

The Religion of Philosophy Raymond St. James Perrin, 1885 It is well known that religion as well as philosophy depends upon language for the expression of its truths This seems a simple proposition but what are its consequences If language is the sole medium of development of the higher thoughts and feelings in its genesis may we not hope to discover the deepest truths of life and mind Before the complex symbols which we call words came into use and hence before the mind acquired the faculty of forming thoughts or extended comparisons activities or motions were the only medium of expression between sentient beings Language is the development of these expressive actions and so highly complex has it become so far removed from its rude beginnings that it seems another order of creation a system of miraculous origin But when we remember that intelligence is a concomitant development with language that thought or spirit is but a building up of words into ideas and that these words are merely condensed memories common experiences which have become current from tongue to tongue is it not evident that there is no impenetrable mystery in speech and that its product mind is a synthesis of simple and familiar truths Again when we retrace sensibility or feeling from which language has been gradually evolved to its beginnings in organic life we find no absolute demarcations we find that all life whether mental or physical is interdependent
