Eugene Kleinbauer,Medieval Academy of America,1989-01-01 A collection of essays that reflect the breadth of twentieth century scholarship in art history Kleinbauer has sought to illustrate the variety of methods scholars have developed for conveying the unfolding of the arts in the Western world Originally published by Holt Rinehart and Winston 1971 A Biographical History of the Fine Arts Shearjashub Spooner,1873 Dealing with the Visual Caroline van Eck,Edward Winters,2017-11-30 One of the issues underlying current debates between practitioners of art history visual culture and aesthetics is whether the visual is a unique irreducible category or whether it can be assimilated with the textual or verbal without any significant loss Can paintings buildings or installations be read in the way texts are read or deciphered or do works of visual art ask for their own kind of appreciation This is not only a question of choosing the right method in dealing with visual works of art but also an issue that touches on the roots of the disciplines involved can a case be made for the visual as an irreducible category of art and if so how is it best studied and appreciated In this anthology this question is approached from the angles of three disciplines aesthetics visual culture and art history Unlike many existing overviews of visual culture studies it includes both painting and architecture and investigates historical ways of defining and appreciating the visual in their own contemporary terms Dealing with the Visual will be of great use to advanced students because it offers an overview of current debates and to graduate students and professionals in the field because the essays offer in depth investigations of the methodological issues involved and various historical ways of defining visuality The topics included range from early modern ways of viewing pictures and sixteenth century views of Palladio's villas in their landscape settings to contemporary debate about whether there is life yet in painting

Meaning in the Visual Arts Erwin Panofsky, 1955 Since its original publication Erwin Panofsky's Meaning in the Visual Arts has been standard reading for students of art history It is both an introduction to the study of art and for those with more specialized interests a profound discussion of art and life in the Middle Ages and Renaissance Panofsky's historical technique reveals an abundance of detail detail he skillfully relates to the life and work of individual painters and their times The papers in this volume represent a cross section of Panofsky's major work Included are selections from his well known Studies in Iconology and The Life and Art of Albrecht Durer plus an introduction and an epilogue The History of Art as a

Humanistic Discipline and Three Decades of Art History in the United States Impressions of a Transplanted European as well as pieces written especially for this collection All display Panofsky s vast erudition and deep commitment to a humanistic conception of art and art history Art History and Emergency David Breslin, Darby English, 2016 Seeing Differently Amelia Jones, 2013-06-19 Seeing Differently offers a history and theory of ideas about identity in relation to visual arts discourses and practices in Euro American culture from early modern beliefs that art is an expression of an individual the painted image a world picture expressing a comprehensive and coherent point of view to the rise of identity politics after WWII in the art world and beyond The book is both a history of these ideas for example tracing the dominance of a binary model of self and other from Hegel through classic 1970s identity politics and a political response to the common claim in art and popular political discourse that we are beyond or post identity In challenging this latter claim Seeing Differently critically examines how and why we identify works of art with an expressive subjectivity noting the impossibility of claiming we are post identity given the persistence of beliefs in art discourse and broader visual culture about who the subject is and offers a new theory of how to think this kind of identification in a more thoughtful and self reflexive way Ultimately Seeing Differently offers a mode of thinking identification as a queer feminist durational process that can never be fully resolved but must be accounted for in thinking about art and visual culture Queer feminist durationality is a mode of relational interpretation that affects both art and interpreter potentially making us more aware of how we evaluate and give value to art and other kinds of visual culture
