Wildcat Screaming:

Wildcat Screaming Mudrooroo, 2018-10-01 Well I can dream can't I Dream nightmares more like it All I have to do is dream dream dream scream I'm now walking through this posh suburb walking more like slinking Wildcat on the prowl Naw though maybe checking out the streets for a bust Eyes dart this way that way all ways focus man on the main chance Take it and break it real good but is there any chances left Not with my luck Wildcat is out of prison but not for long In this sequel to Wild Cat Falling Mudrooroo takes us inside the life of the urban Aboriginal Set in the boom years of Perth bankers and entrepreneurs we see the same wheeling and dealing from inside Fremantle prison Wildcat has to survive and understand the new order set by the Chief Warder and an ex Indian Army officer Soon he too is part of their great creation The Panopticon Prison Reform Society A novel by one of Australia's most revolutionary stylists Mongrel Signatures, 2021-10-01 Mongrel Signatures reviews the Australian writer Mudrooroo's career and deals with central issues of identity authenticity and truth After 1996 academics and writers in Australia and around the world endorsed or denied Mudrooroo's Aboriginality after research had dramatically called his Indigenous identity into question There has also been a long silence among fans of Mudrooroo who has not commented publicly on his racial belonging These challenging and lively reflections by European and Australian scholars and writers are not meant to discuss whether Mudrooroo can legitimately sign his works with an Aboriginal name an essentialist and problematic view of identity and authenticity Instead they explore how Mudrooroo's writing restages the drama of subjectivity in terms of articulation rather than authentication and ask how we are to read him now in the face of current accusations and the cultural scenario of Aboriginal arts and studies The contributors in disagreement or in dialogue treat questions of identity and representation reading Mudrooroo's work through the lenses of such perspectives as psychoanalysis postmodernism postcolonialism deconstruction and queer theory The essays are designed to provoke debate and to dissolve the rigid polarities hitherto characterizing discussion of this highly influential creative artist Contributors are Clare Archer Lean Maureen Clark Graziella Englaro Eva Rask Knudsen Ruby Langford Ginibi Maggie Nolan Annalisa Oboe Wendy Pearson Lorenzo Perrona Cassandra Pybus Adam Shoemaker and Gerry Turcotte Mudrooroo Maureen Clark, 2007 Mudrooroo A Likely Story reads the fiction of one of Australia's most controversial and enigmatic literary figures against the backdrop of the likelihood that he assumed an Aboriginal identity to which he was not entitled As he is neither black nor white Colin Johnson aka a Mudrooroo writes on issues of identity and belonging from the position of an outsider The book argues that the experimental nature of Johnson's creative body of work coupled with the complexities of his in-between status mean that both the man and his writing evade neat categorisation within mainstream literary criticism Also examined here is how the denial of his white mother impacts upon the gender politics of Johnson's fiction in a way that opens up exciting new possibilities for critical comment and textual analysis Back cover The Boy Scouts in the Blue Ridge Herbert Carter, 1913 The Congregationalist, 1927 New York Supreme
