Slave Of The Passion:

Passion's slave Richard Ashe King, 1889      Not Passion's Slave Robert C. Solomon, 2003-01-30 The idea that we are in some significant sense responsible for our emotions is an idea that Robert Solomon has developed for almost three decades Here in a single volume he traces the development of this theory of emotions and elaborate it in detail Two themes run through his work the first presents a cognitive theory of emotions in which emotions are construed primarily as evaluative judgments The second proposes an existentialist perspective in which he defends the idea that as we are responsible for our emotions Indeed sometimes it even makes sense to say that we choose them While the first claim has gained increasing currency in the literature his claim about responsibility for emotions has continued to meet with considerable resistance and misinterpretation The new emphasis on evolutionary biology and neurology has mistakenly reinforced the popular prejudice that emotions happen to us and are entirely beyond our control This volume is also a kind of intellectual memoir of Solomon's own development as a thinker The essays written in the 1980s elaborate the themes of the intentionality of emotion and the claim that emotions are judgments in this period he is also increasingly preoccupied with how emotions vary and are identified in a variety of cultures In the 1990s his interests evolve to consider the social and political role of emotions and theories about emotion The final section presents his current philosophical position on the seeming passivity of the passions Despite his own critical assessment of his earlier work he continues to argue that in the final analysis we are responsible for our emotions and existential quality of our lives      PASSION'S SLAVE ALEXIS HILL, 1979      Slaves of the Passions Mark Schroeder, 2007-12-13 Mark Schroeder presents an original theory of reasons for action This theory is broadly Humean in holding that reasons for action are instrumental or explained by desires Slaves of the Passions will be essential reading for anyone interested in metaethics practical reason or explanatory moral theory      A Fatal Passion Mrs. Alexander Fraser, 1879      Bulletin University of South Carolina, 1907      The passion of Jesus Sabine Baring Gould, 1885      The Slave Robert Hichens, 1899      Sermons for the Christian Year: Lent to Passion-tide John Keble, 1883      The Mirror of Faith: Your Likeness in it Cuthbert Hooker, 1875      Fort comme la mort; or the ruling passion Guy de Maupassant, 1903      Fort comme la mort, or, The ruling passion.
