The Politics of Global Competitiveness Paul Cammack, 2022 Marx predicted in Capital 1867 that as capitalism became global patterns of work would be transformed and workers would need to develop versatility flexibility and mobility This general law of social production as he called it is now in evidence all around us in global value chains zero hours contracts and contract work organised through digital platforms It results from competition between capitalists scientific and technological revolutions in production and incessant advances in the division of labour as production processes are broken down into ever smaller steps This book documents the leading roles of the Paris based Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development and the Washington based World Bank as advocates of these developments They do not as generally supposed simply represent the interests of the advanced economies or the West and their transnational corporations They promote a single global model of capitalist development without limits and on a genuinely global scale It calls upon all states to adjust continually to the structural and social demands of competitiveness which they see as essential to the global hegemony of capital over labour The OECD and the World Bank propose policies that give girls and women equal access to education and paid work reform welfare to make work pay introduce flexible labour contracts that make hiring and firing easier focus education on skills that boost employability and draw workers in the developing world from the informal sector into the formal sector where they can be more productive This is the politics of global competitiveness

Blame it on the WTO? Sarah Joseph,2011-04-14 The WTO is often accused of not paying enough attention to human rights This book weighs these criticisms and examines their validity both from a legal and from political and economic points of views It asks whether the WTO is under an obligation to construct a fairer trade system and discusses suggestions for reform

analyze the factors that cause underdevelopment from the consequences of colonialism deficient domestic institutions and gender inequality to the effects of globalization geography and environmental degradation Students learn to think like social scientists while coming to understand the full breadth of influences on a nation s political economic and social development Country case studies at the end of each chapter offer an ideal testing ground for the threefold framework as they apply empirical data to the various explanations of underdevelopment Critical thinking questions then encourage students to weigh the different theoretical arguments A series of well designed features develop students understanding of indicators of development concepts and highlight various kinds of aid organizations and opportunities for development work in the field Shaping the Developing World presents high quality academic analysis and the latest scholarship in a format that s engaging informative and above all accessible World Development Indicators ,2007 World Development Report 2007 Emmanuel Jimenez,World Bank,2006 Developing countries which invest in better education healthcare and job training for their young people between the ages of 12 and 24 years of age could produce economic growth and sharply reduced poverty With 1.3 billion young people now living in the developing world the largest ever youth group in history the report says there has never been a better time to invest in youth because they are healthier and better educated than previous generations and they will join the workforce with fewer dependents because of changing demographics The report says that young people make up nearly half of the ranks of the world s unemployed and as for example in the Middle East and North Africa region must create 100 million jobs by 2020 in order to stabilize its employment situation Moreover surveys of young people in East Asia and Eastern Europe and Central Asia carried out as research for the report indicate that access to jobs along with physical security is their biggest concern Far too many young people some 130 million 15-24 year olds cannot read or write Secondary education and skill acquisition make sense only if primary schooling has been successful This is still far from being the case and efforts have to be reinforced in this area In addition more than 20 percent of firms in countries such as Algeria Bangladesh Brazil China Estonia and Zambia rate poor education and work skills among their workforce Overcoming this handicap starts with more and better investments in youth The report highlights three areas to promote better investment in the future expanding opportunities enhancing capabilities and providing second chances Expanding opportunities focuses on increasing the quality of education smoothing the transition to work and providing young people with a platform for civic engagement Enhancing capabilities involves making young people aware of the consequences of their actions especially consequences that will affect them much later in life as well as building their decision making skills and giving them the right incentives Providing second chances calls for helping young people recover from missed opportunities through remedial education retraining treatment and rehabilitation Global Poverty, Ethics and Human Rights Desmond McNeill,Asunción Lera StClair,2009-01-15 Examines the activities of the World Bank and the United Nations Development Programme in relation to the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization and the Inter

American Development Bank African Development Report 2007 African Development Bank, Oxford University Press, 2007-11-01 The African Development Report 2007 is the nineteenth annual survey of economic and social progress in Africa The Report provides comprehensive analysis of the state of the African economy examining development policy issues affecting the economic prospects of the continent The World Bank Legal Review, Volume 2: Law, Equity and Development World Bank, 2006 The World Bank Legal Review is a publication for policy makers and their advisers attorneys and other professionals engaged in the field of international development It offers a combination of legal scholarship lessons from experience legal developments and recent research on the many ways in which the application of the law and the improvement of justice systems promote poverty reduction economic development and the rule of law In keeping with the theme of the World Development Report 2006 Equity and Development and following the success of the World Bank Group's Legal Forum on Law Equity and Development in December 2005 volume 2 of The World Bank Legal Review focuses on issues of equity and development The volume draws together some of the key ideas of the Legal Forum including articles by many of its distinguished participants and explores the role of equity in the development process highlighting how legal and regulatory frameworks and equitable justice systems can do much to level the playing field in the political economic and sociocultural domains as well as how they can reinforce existing inequalities Consistent with the interdisciplinary nature of this endeavour Law Equity and Development contains work by academics and practitioners in law criminal justice economics human rights social development cultural studies and anthropology Human Development Report 2007/2008 United Nations Development Programme, 2007-11-15 Human development is about putting people at the center of development It is about people realizing their potential increasing choice and enjoying the freedom to lead the lives they value Created in 1990 the Human Development Report has explored themes including gender equity democracy human rights globalization cultural liberty and water scarcity The past years have witnessed the emergence of a growing consensus on climate change Governments across the world have seen the warning signs The science linking global warming to human activity is unequivocal The economic case for action is compelling the costs of inaction will heavily outweigh the costs of action Yet the politics lags behind the science and the economics Collectively the world's governments are failing to act with the urgency demanded by the scale of the threat The window of opportunity for avoiding dangerous climate change is closing fast This year's Human Development Report explains why we have less than a decade to change course and start living within our global carbon budget It explains how climate change will create long run low human development traps pushing vulnerable people into a downward spiral of deprivation Because climate change is a global problem with global causes and effects it demands a global response with countries acting on the basis of their historic responsibility and capabilities Proceedings, 2007 Human Development in South Asia 2006 Mahbub ul Haq Human Development Centre, 2007 Mahbub ul Haq Human Development Centre's 2006 Report on poverty in South Asia underlines the imperative of focusing on alleviating
