The Moral World Arnold Smith, 2014-07-21 The Moral World is a comprehensive introduction to the diverse perspectives of major ethical thinkers and theories. The book explores Eastern, Western, religious, and secular views of ethics and helps students understand when and how to participate in ethical discussions. The text is rooted in normative ethics, the various theories of ethics created by thinkers to let us know how to behave toward one another. The four sections of the book address religious morality and transcendence, virtue ethicists, rational norms, and secular morality and ethics and social change. As students engage with these overarching concepts, they are exposed to the writings of great philosophical thinkers, ancient and contemporary, including Aristotle, Maimonides, Avicenna, Bentham, Rand, Marx, King, Gandhi, and the Dalai Lama. Written in a student-friendly style, The Moral World enables students to understand the place of ethics, connect religion and ethics, and recognize the value of ethics in the material world. The book is appropriate for introductory courses in ethics. It can also be used as a supplemental reader in classes on comparative religion, general philosophy, or humanities. Arnold Smith earned his B.A. in philosophy and history and his M.A. in philosophy at Kent State University. In addition, he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Divinity from ULC Seminary in 2010. Professor Smith is a faculty member in both the Department of Philosophy at Kent State and the Department of Philosophy and Religious Studies at Youngstown State University in Ohio. In addition, Professor Smith has acted as advisor for the Philosophy and Religious Studies Forum and the Eastern Wisdom Meditation and Chant group. He is a member of the Ohio and American Philosophical Associations. Professor Smith's professional writing has been published in Philosophy Now, Brijabasi Spirit, and the Ogele.

The Invention of Good and Evil Hanno Sauer, 2024-09-17 What makes us moral beings? How do we decide what is good and what is evil? In the vein of Sapiens comes a grand history of our universal moral values at the moment of their greatest crisis. How did we learn to distinguish good from evil? Have we always been capable of doing so? And will we still be in the world to come? In this breathtaking book, ethics expert Hanno Sauer offers a great universal history of morality in the era of its darkest crisis. He finds that morality existed long before there was talk of God, religion, or philosophy. Its history is first of all the fruit of a process of natural selection going back to the dawn of humanity in the forests of East Africa, which five million years ago thinned out owing to climate change. Among the early humans that came down from the trees, there were also our ancestors who adapted to open spaces by organizing themselves into large groups. Under the pressure of environmental factors, morality emerges as the foundation for cooperation, a quality that is as precarious as it is essential to the survival of the species. Moving between paleontology and genetics psychology and cognitive science philosophy and evolutionism Sauer traces a genealogy of morality and along the journey marks the main moral transformations in the history of humanity In the end he concludes that millions of years of stratifications has led to the moral crisis of our present and the only way to build a future together is to retrace our history
