Sheth, Steffen Staab, Massimo Paolucci, Diana Maynard, Timothy Finin, Krishnaprasad Thirunarayan, 2008-10-21 The Web is a global information space consisting of linked documents and linked data As the Web continues to grow and new technologies modes of interaction and applications are being developed the task of the Semantic Web is to unlock the power of information available on the Web into a common semantic information space and to make it available for sharing and processing by automated tools as well as by people. Right now the publication of large datasets on the Web, the opening of data access interfaces and the encoding of the semantics of the data extend the current human-centric Web. Now the Semantic Web community is tackling the challenges of how to create and manage Semantic Web content, how to make Semantic Web applications robust and scalable and how to organize and integrate information from different sources for novel uses. To foster the exchange of ideas and collaboration, the International Semantic Web Conference brings together researchers and practitioners in relevant disciplines such as artificial intelligence, databases, social networks, distributed computing, Web engineering, information systems, natural language processing, software computing and human-computer interaction. This volume contains the main proceedings of ISWC 2008, which we are cited to offer to the growing community of researchers and practitioners of the Semantic Web. We got a tremendous response to our call for research papers from a truly international community of researchers and practitioners from 41 countries, submitting 261 papers. Each paper received an average of 3

Geochemical Modelling of Igneous Processes - Principles And Recipes in R Language Vojtěch

Janoušek, Jean-François Moyen, Hervé Martin, Vojtěch Erban, Colin Farrow, 2015-09-10. The aim of this book is to unlock the power of the free software R language to advanced university students and researchers dealing with whole rock geochemistry of meta-igneous rocks. The first part covers data input/output, calculation of commonly used indexes and plotting in R. The core of the book then focusses on the presentation and practical implementations of modelling techniques used for fingerprinting processes such as partial melting, fractional crystallization, binary mixing or AFC using major trace element and radiogenic isotope data. The reader will be given a firm theoretical basis for forward/reverse modelling followed by exercises dealing with typical problems likely to be encountered in real life and their solutions using R. The concluding sections demonstrate using practical examples how a researcher can proceed in developing a realistic model simulating natural systems. The appendices outline the fundamentals of the R language and provide a quick introduction to the open source R package GCDkit for interpretation of whole rock geochemical data from igneous and metamorphic rocks. Oregon Law Review

Intelligence Tamas D. Gedeon, Lance C.C. Fung, 2003-12-01. Consider the problem of a robot algorithm learning mechanism moving along the real line attempting to locate a particular point. To assist the mechanism we assume that it can communicate with an Environment Oracle which guides it with information regarding the direction in which it should go. If the Environment is deterministic the problem is the Deterministic Point location Problem which has been studied rather thoroughly 1 In its pioneering version 1 the problem was presented in the setting that the Environment could charge the robot a cost which was proportional to the distance it was from the point sought for The question of having multiple communicating robots locate a point on the line has also been studied 1 2 In the stochastic version of this problem we consider the scenario when the learning mechanism attempts to locate a point in an interval with stochastic i e possibly erroneous instead of deterministic responses from the environment Thus when it should really be moving to the right it may be advised to move to the left and vice versa Apart from the problem being of importance in its own right the stochastic point location problem also has potential applications in solving optimization problems In many optimization solutions for example in image processing pattern recognition and neural computing 5 9 11 12 14 16 19 the algorithm works its way from its current solution to the optimal solution based on information that it currently has A crucial question is one of determining the parameter which the optimization algorithm should use
