President's Commission on Mental Health,1978 Survival of the African American Family Karen S. Jewell,2003-11-30 Challenging widely held beliefs this provocative book offers nothing less than a blueprint for enhancing the social and economic status of African American families Despite the implementation of liberal social policies in the 1960s and 70s successive U S administrations continue to dash the hopes and expectations of African Americans who remain subject to racism and discrimination Arguing that social policies and their absence have affected the stability of the African American family Jewell refutes the myth of significant progress for African American families emanating from the civil rights era exposing the myriad reasons why greater advancement toward equality has not occurred in major societal institutions Attention is focused on the extent to which African American families have been adversely affected by a process of assimilation that was socio psychological rather than economic This new edition builds upon the first edition and is revised and expanded to reflect new and persistent institutional policies and practices of race gender and class inequality facing African American families The revised edition explores such issues as racial profiling capital punishment police brutality predatory lending No Child Left Behind welfare reform affirmative action and racial disparities in healthcare academic achievement and home ownership Jewell proposes a variety of strategies and policies that are needed to ensure greater social and economic equality and justice for African American families Appendices United States. need for a global exchange of knowledge and strategies Recent studies have shown that countries with well established geriatric care systems can serve as models for those still developing their services However there remains a significant gap in understanding how these successful frameworks can be adapted and implemented in diverse cultural and economic contexts Addressing this gap is essential for ensuring that all aging populations receive the care and support they need This research topic aims to explore and document the diverse structures and developments of geriatric care across different countries By examining the aging demographics availability of specialized healthcare professionals and existing services this research seeks to identify best practices and innovative strategies that can be shared globally The objective is to foster a collaborative environment where countries can learn from each other s experiences ultimately leading to improved geriatric care worldwide Key questions include how countries with less developed systems can enhance their geriatric care and what role international collaboration can play in this process To gather further insights into the global landscape of geriatric care we welcome Original Research Review Mini review Case Report Clinical Trial and Opinion articles addressing but not limited to the following themes The country specific aging structure of the population An overview of professional and academic healthcare providers Structure of healthcare services for the older patient Country specific challenges and future planning and developments Examples of countries with well established geriatric care systems which served as models for countries still developing their services By sharing research and insights we aim to build a comprehensive body of work that significantly advances progress in geriatric care ensuring that all elderly individuals receive the support and services they deserve
