Advances in Mixed-Method Evaluation: The Challenges and Benefits of Integrating Diverse Paradigms Jennifer C. Greene, Valerie J. Caracelli, 1997-06-16 Evaluation theory and practice today are characteristically pluralistic embracing diverse perspectives methods data and values within and across studies that aim to generate more insightful and meaningful evaluative claims This volume of New Directions for Evaluation seeks to strengthen the promise of pluralistic evaluation by advancing an enhanced conceptual framework for planning and implementing mixed method evaluation studies Previous mixed method work has concentrated on the technical level of method focusing on combining qualitative and quantitative methods within one evaluation study The present mixed method volume addresses the philosophical level of paradigm analyzing the challenges of combining in one study different even conflicting assumptions about the nature of social phenomena and our claims to know them The volume argues for a shift in the mixed method conversation The shift would be away from a preoccupation with explicit assumptive differences among paradigms such as objectivity subjectivity and realism relativism and toward other characteristics of social inquiry traditions Such characteristics define these traditions in important ways but are not logically irreconcilable The significant advance here is to redirect the bases for mixing methods away from what may well be incommensurable philosophical assumptions and toward other inquiry characteristics that can more productively share a common analytic space Through analysis of illustrative cases this volume presents an array of conceptual and practical ideas for promising mixed method inquiry directions This is the 74th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Evaluation For more information on the series please see the Journals and Periodicals page

Sociological Abstracts ,1993 An Evaluation of a Specialized Dual Disorder Treatment for Persons with Mental Illness and Substance Use Bonnie Josephine BootsMiller,1996 Theorists' Models in Action Marvin Alkin,2005-08-11 This volume analyzes how evaluation theorists apply their approach in practice A scenario of a situation at an elementary school is presented to four prominent theorists who describe how they would design and conduct an evaluation of the school s program The editors consider the theorists proposed evaluations as well as their subsequent comments to develop themes related to the influence of theory and context on practice They also provide a comparative analysis of the theorists evaluation approaches in relation to the context of evaluation case presented Evaluation theorists seem to be quite good at propounding on how they think the evaluation world ought to work Yet do we really know that what theorists say they would do in practice is indeed what they would actually do Evaluation after all is situational Each context offers its own constituency set of values programmatic elements bureaucratic hurdles and other variables This volume demonstrates why evaluators need to adapt their point of view to a particular situation and provides much needed study and analysis on the way in which they make those adaptations This is the 106th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation Sociological Abstracts Leo P. Chall,1999 CSA Sociological Abstracts abstracts and indexes the international literature in sociology and related disciplines in the social and behavioral sciences The database provides abstracts of journal articles and citations to book reviews drawn from over 1 800 serials publications and also provides abstracts of books book chapters dissertations and conference papers Substance Abuse Prevention Programs for Children June Pressly Mead,1995 Journal of Applied Rehabilitation Counseling ,1993 An Evaluation of the Backgrounds, Beliefs and Attitudes of Think Detroit PAL Volunteer Youth Sports Coaches Kristen Murray,2009 Challenges in Evaluating School-linked Services Kathleen M.
