National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior

The removal of the Chickasaw from their southeast homelands began in the early 1800s. Government traders who forced tribal members into debt would demand tribal lands as payment. By 1818, the Chickasaw had unwillingly yielded property in Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi, and Tennessee.

The most intense removal period took place from 1837 to 1850. Because the tribe controlled and paid for the journey, their experience proved more orderly than the Cherokee and Creek removals. It was not without hardship. As the Chickasaw moved west, their procession soon became a long funeral train. Many people starved when inedible rotten food was provided by government contractors. For several thousand Chickasaw, however, the journey was quicker and safer on steamers up the Arkansas River.

Despite broken treaties and forced removals, the Chickasaw people remained united and survived. Today they prosper in south-central Oklahoma as a culturally progressive and financially successful nation.

Removed by Chickasaw artist Tom Phillips. The journey west included hardship, malnutrition and disease. Whiskey, in particular, killed hundreds of tribal members.

Of the Bird Class by Chickasaw artist Aracelis Barbero. The young boy represents the different animals, including pheasant, osprey, of the Chickasaw Nation before removal. He wears traditional clothing and holds a new leather bag.
