The London Charterhouse

Great Britain. Public Record Office

The London Charterhouse:

The London Charterhouse Stephen Porter, 2009-03-15 Thomas Sutton's reputation as the wealthiest commoner in England at the time of his death in 1611 was matched by the scale of the charity which he founded at the Charterhouse in Clerkenwell. This work examines the Charterhouse's significance as England's leading charity and the support and opposition that it attracted.

The History of the London Charterhouse from Its Foundation Until the Suppression of the Monastery Sir William Henry St. John Hope, 1925

The London Charterhouse Bruno Barber, Christopher Thomas, 2002

This is the latest in the series of MoLAS monographs on the religious houses of medieval London. It considers the London Charterhouse, a Carthusian monastery founded in 1371 just outside the walled city. The volume is primarily intended to report on the 1998 excavations in Preachers Court, part of the Inner Court of the Charterhouse, but also incorporates a reassessment of Grimes' post-war work and the results of numerous small excavations, evaluations, and watching briefs conducted within the monastic precinct between 1998 and 2000. The result is a new, fully illustrated account of the development of the entire monastery, with a particular focus on its service areas. Separate discussions examine the pre-monastic use of the site as one of London's Black Death cemeteries, the diet within the monastery, the monastic economy, and the impact of the suburban location on the reclusive Carthusian order. Evidence for the post-Dissolution period, the wider setting of the 16th-century mansion and the hospital established in 1613-14 is also examined. This is a look at one of London's most fascinating historic sites.

The History of the London Charterhouse from Its Foundation Until the Suppression of the Monastery Sir William Henry St. John Hope, 1925

Carthusian Monasticism Stephen J. Molvarec, S. J., Demetrio S. Yocum, 2025-12-29

This volume seeks through the work of a number of experts in various fields to explore monastic life as embodied by Carthusian monks and nuns. Medieval and Early Modern Carthusians are omnipresent in a number of topics in medieval studies: literature, history, art, religious life, and the development of intellectual and theological thought. Moreover, these religious men and women were significant contributors to Medieval and Early Modern culture, society, and spirituality. Despite Carthusians' influence and popularity during this time, they have often escaped scholarly attention. As a multi-pronged and interdisciplinary study, this volume offers a comprehensive yet nuanced re-examination of the Carthusian way of life, one that often challenges long-standing assumptions about the Carthusians and their place within Western Christianity and civilization. The breadth and depth of this volume will appeal not only to the seasoned scholar and graduate students but also to newcomers to the field.

Michelangelo and the English Martyrs Anne Dillon, 2012

This book uses a broadsheet print of the martyrdom of the Carthusians of the London Charterhouse during the reign of Henry VIII as a springboard to investigate several aspects of the Counter-Reformation. Through an in-depth investigation of the text and images, Anne Dillon provides a lively account that connects Michelangelo, Cardinal Pole, Mary Tudor, and Pope Julius III, and weaves them into a wider discussion of martyrology, polemic, and the Catholic community in England and beyond.
