Thomas Jefferson's Library Thomas Jefferson, 2010-04 Painstaking Reconstruction of Jefferson's Library Catalogue Sold to the Library of Congress in 1815 to replace volumes burned by the British during their occupation of Washington Jefferson's library comprising 6 700 volumes was one of the finest in the United States The taxonomically arranged catalogue that accompanied these books was a remarkable work one that offered great insight into the broad and systematic nature of Jefferson's mind Unfortunately it was lost Using Jefferson's notes and the first edition of the Library of Congress catalogue Gilreath and Wilson recreated Jefferson's original compilation It contains an extensive collection of legal books arranged under the general heading Philosophy Beginning with the broad designations of Ethics Moral Philosophy Law of Nature and Nations and Religion Jefferson proceeds to such topics as Common Law Maritime Law and Foreign Law It is valuable both for its insights into Jefferson s legal mind and as a guide to the titles one would want to include in a first class American law library of the period James Gilreath was an American history specialist at the Library of Congress rare book and special collections division Douglas L Wilson is George A Lawrence Distinguished Service Professor Emeritus Co director Lincoln Studies Center Knox College Galesburg Illinois

Jefferson has rightly been called the apostle of individualism. When he gave liberty to the individual, he desired also to bestow upon him character. He knew that the character of the State mirrors forth the character of the citizen, and that a government is admirable or otherwise according to the aggregate of culture in the populace. In his Notes on Virginia, he says: "In every government on earth is some trace of human weakness, some germ of corruption and degeneracy, which cunning will discover and wickedness insensibly open, cultivate, and improve. Every government degenerates when trusted to the rulers of the people alone. The people themselves therefore are its only safe depositaries. And to render even them safe, their minds must be improved to a certain degree." Writing to Van der Kemp in 1812, he says: "The only orthodox object of the institution of government is to secure the greatest degree of happiness possible to the general mass of those associated under it. And where will the ignis fatuus of happiness be secured if not in the possession of wisdom." About the Publisher: Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
