Talking And Learning:

Talking and Learning with Young Children Michael Jones, 2015-11-18 Children learn to talk through interaction including involvement in many thousands of conversations with adults and other children These conversations provide the framework for exploring relationships understanding the world and learning in its widest sense This book explores how children learn to communicate using language how they use language to learn and the role of adults in the process It examines how adults can support children to learn by involving them in positive interactions meaningful conversation and by helping them play explore and talk with each other The book includes examples of children and adults talking and learning together case studies of successful approaches that support language and learning in early years settings points for reflection and practical tasks Informed by the author's own experience working with young children families and practitioners and from his involvement in the England wide Every Child a Talker ECaT project it links key research findings with successful practice to inspire practitioners to develop skills when talking with children influence how adults plan for talk in settings and gain insight into how language develops in the home

The Meaning Makers Gordon Wells, 2009 The Meaning Makers traces the language and literacy development of a large representative sample of children from age 1 to 10 quoting liberally from observations made at home and at school Setting the findings of the study in the context of recent research it offers suggestions for improving children's opportunities for learning Learning to Talk, Talking to Learn Linda Clarke, Catherine Ireland, 1996 As parents the greatest skill we teach our children is talking and communicating Effective communication opens doors at school work and in relationships This book is designed as a guide for parents who can contribute enormously to their child's ability to talk

Talking to Learn Pauline Jones, Jennifer Hammond, 2018-10-09 This book examines the place of talk in learning and the role of such talk in literacy education It builds on a strong tradition of research into the role of talk in constructing curriculum knowledge the relationship between talking and thinking and the significance of extended in depth dialogic interaction in classroom talk However it differs from tradition with its emphasis on the need to make the role of language in learning more visible and more explicit This book places particular emphasis on the relationship between dialogic pedagogy and language based approaches to learning Contributions range from discussions on educational linguistics and dialogic pedagogy as complementary perspectives to needs of students for whom English is an additional language or dialect This volume was originally published as a special issue of Research Papers in Education

The Essential Speaking and Listening Lyn Dawes, 2008-05-09 The aim of this book is to help teachers teach children to speak and listen effectively by having them engage with the teacher and their fellow students in conscious dialogue

Get Them Talking - Get Them Learning. by Alistair Bryce-Clegg Alistair Bryce-Clegg, 2014-08-01 Young children are fascinated by the world around them They have high levels of natural curiosity and a compelling desire to explore and experience EVERYTHING As children develop the skills of language and communication it is talk that helps children to make sense of those experiences by asking questions and talking about their thoughts Talk not only plays a pivotal role in helping children to understand the world around them it also enables them to learn how to make sense of the role that they play within in it After all talk is just the thoughts that you have in your head coming out of your mouth If you haven't got many thoughts in your head then you won't have much to talk about Alternatively if you don't have very much experience of language and talk you will not be able to express your thoughts Our role as practitioners is to create a wealth of learning opportunities and experiences that will fill children's heads with thoughts and questions and then support them in acquiring the language to be able to communicate those thoughts to make sense of their world and be understood

Inspiring Dialogue: Talking to Learn in the English Classroom Mary M. Juzwik, Carlin Borsheim-Black, Samantha Caughlan, Anne Heintz, 2013-10-18 Providing a thorough discussion of the benefits of dialogic curriculum in meeting the objectives of the Common Core State Standards this book with its companion website is an ideal resource for teacher development Chapter by chapter the book follows novice teachers as they build a repertoire of practices for planning carrying out and assessing their efforts at dialogic teaching across the secondary English curriculum The text also includes a section to support dialogic teacher learning communities through video study and discourse analysis Book features include dialogic tools for step by step planning within a lesson over the course of a unit or during an entire academic year a user friendly layout designed for new teachers who are pressed for time classroom examples addressing the challenges English teachers may face in stimulating rich learning talk in an era of standardization and a companion website with additional examples activities and course material

LITERACY and LEARNING THROUGH TALK Roy Corden, 2000-07-16 This book focuses on the inter relationship between reading writing and speaking and listening Psychologists and educationalists influenced by the work of Vygotsky have emphasised the importance of social interaction in learning and the National Writing Oracy and LINC Projects highlighted the need for quality interactive pupil discourse and effective teacher pupil interaction However although the DfEE claims that the successful teaching of literacy is characterised by good quality oral work speaking and listening is not included in the National Literacy Strategy Framework and the Literacy Training Pack does not address the issue Literacy and Learning through Talk blends theory research and practice to show how an integrated programme of work can be developed to ensure that literacy is taught in a vibrant and stimulating way Strategies for developing successful group work and whole class interactive discourse are examined and effective teaching roles and questioning techniques are explored Transcripts of group discussions and examples of children's work illustrate various points and work plans and practical classroom activities are described

applies her professional expertise to the study of how children master the skill of language a book that is not just accessible but actually enjoyable for the average reader with useful information on how humans create speech and language Bloomsbury Review Talk about Careers in Science ,2010-01-01 Non scholae sed vitae discimus we learn for life rather than for school In this Roman saying the ultimate reason for school is recognized as being a preparation for life High school science too is a preparation for life the possible careers students identify and for defining possible future Selves In this book the contributors take one dataset as their object of scholarship informed by discursive psychology Bakhtin and poststructural positions to investigate the particulars of the language used in interviews about possible careers conducted both before and after an internship in a university science laboratory Across this collection some contributors focus on data driven analyses in which the authors present more macro perspectives on the use of language in science career talk whereas others see the data using particular lenses that provide intelligible and fruitful perspectives on what and how students and interviewer talk careers in science Other contributors propose to transform the database into different representations that allows researchers to single out and demonstrate particular dimensions of discourse Thus these contributions roughly fall into three categories that are treated under the sections entitled Discourse Analyses of Career Talk Discursive Lenses and Foci and Innovations in Theory Method and Representation of Career Talk Research

Transform Teaching and Learning through Talk Amy Gaunt,Alice Stott,2018-12-28 Reading and writing float on a sea of talk declared James Britton and yet in our current education system where the pressure is on for students to pass written exams it is all too easily left adrift How then as teachers and educators can we turn the tide and harness the power of talk in our classrooms This is not just an educational choice but rather given students vastly different experiences of language a moral imperative Amy Gaunt and Alice Stott s must read book serves as a detailed and engaging guide to get talking in class It blends the academic research and evidence with first hand classroom experiences and practical strategies to enable you to unlock the power of oracy in your classroom and equip your students with the speaking skills they need to thrive in the twenty first century Transform Teaching and Learning Through Talk describes how to Identify and teach good talk and listening Build a classroom culture which values talk Create meaningful and authentic contexts for oracy Support your quietest students to speak up too This book is a rich resource for teachers drawing upon key academic research and outlining what this could look like in your classroom Throughout the authors share personal insights engaging anecdotes and tried and tested approaches drawn from their experience teaching in primary and secondary classrooms Whether you teach college age students or those just starting their journey through school this book will challenge you to think deeply about what you can do integrate oracy into your practice

Talking, Listening, Learning Debra Myhill,2006 Everyday Learning about Talking Julie Campbell,2005 The very early years of children s lives have been shown to be crucial to their development of language and their subsequent capacity to take advantage of preschool and school programs In Everyday learning about talking experienced educator and author Julie Campbell explains the stages in language development and how the involvement of children in listening to and participating in family conversations especially before the age of three enhances their capacity to learn to talk Suggestions for simple word games to use as a starting point are also included The progression of young children from joining in with a few simple words to actively contributing to detailed conversations is a delightful aspect of early development This book shows parents carers and educators what to expect along the way and how to enhance children s skills in this area

Learning Through Talk in the Early Years Elizabeth Sharp,2005-08-16 This book is aimed at class teachers of Reception to Year 3 seeking ideas to develop their pupils speaking and listening skills The author describes each activity in an easy to follow format with links to the relevant curriculum targets The most valuable part of the book is the commentary from the author s own teaching experience This provides some useful insights such as the fact that the flow of children s ideas was improved while they had a discussion while engaged in drawing The book is easy to read It provide s a practical guide to some tried and tested speaking and listening activities which may be useful for the beginning Foundation or Key Stage 1 teacher Special Do the children in your class need help with language and listening skills Lots of ideas and suggestions for activities using and encouraging talk in the classroom make this book a lively practical guide to encouraging young children to develop their verbal reasoning skills and to communicate more effectively There is advice on how to tie in these activities with the various curriculum subjects and the following are covered setting up a talk corner using story bags and story boxes using Circle Time and playing games to encourage talk In each activity there are directions for helping children with Special Educational Needs working with Teaching Assistants TAs and other adults in the classroom planning and assessing work and finding suitable resources A selection of photocopiable material is included and all the suggestions and ideas in the book have been tried and tested by the author in her own classroom The focus of this book is on young children aged 5 to 8 but the activities can be adapted to suit those younger or older
