Earth Negotiations Pamela S. Chasek, 2001 Earth Negotiations develops a phased process model that can enable greater understanding of the process by which international environmental agreements are negotiated By breaking down the negotiating process into a series of phases and turning points it is easier to analyze the roles of the different actors the management of issues the formation of groups and coalitions and the art of consensus building Six discernible phases and five associated turning points within the process of multilateral environmental negotiation are identified and explained The model is then used to see if there is anything that occurs in the earlier phases of negotiation that affects subsequent phases and if there is anything in the process that may have an effect on the outcome The overall goal is to determine what lessons can be learned from past cases of multilateral environmental negotiation in order to help both practitioners and scholars strengthen the negotiating process and the quality of its results
