Between Cultures H. Ned Seelye, Jacqueline Howell Wasilewski, 1996 Do you sometimes wonder if you really belong any place Do you feel that you belong everywhere but nowhere that people don t understand you anywhere Are you one of the many millions who have roots in different cultures Do the common labels of nationality race language or ethnicity fit too tightly on your complex and diverse self For anyone searching for a more satisfying understanding of the dynamics of living on the cultural borderlands Between Cultures Developing Self Identity in a World of Diversity Makes you more effective as you move across cultural divides Helps you sort out the confusion inherent in being multicultural and realize your creative potential Shows you why traditional labels of identity are deficient and how everyone has multicultural ancestors Suggests new ways to look at yourself and new metaphors of identity that transcend cultural boundaries Gives you an easy method to craft your own special identity Real life examples illustrate the experiences of those who routinely cross cultural borders The authors tackle controversial issues and argue persuasively and entertainingly The Notes to Myself section at the end of each chapter guides you through the labyrinth of your own personal multi pruned past A must read for all multicultural people and their friends and family If you work with individuals from diverse cultural backgrounds put this book in their hands

Cross-Cultural Differences in Electronic Word-of-Mouth Influence on Purchase Intention Nicklas Westphal, 2017-03-29 Master s Thesis from the year 2016 in the subject Business economics Offline Marketing and Online Marketing grade 74% University of Warwick language English abstract International marketers are trying to encourage positive electronic word of mouth eWoM about their products and services The question of whether consumers in different cultures respond differently to eWoM is critical if marketers are to leverage the potentially global power of eWoM The central objective of this study is to critically evaluate whether espoused national cultural values at the individual level influence the effect of eWoM on consumers purchase intention Prior cross cultural eWoM research mostly studied culture at the country level This paper draws on perspectives in cultural psychology and cross cultural research that argue that individuals espouse national cultural values to different degrees Therefore predicting the influence of culture on individuals behaviour necessitates to assess cultural values by personality tests at the individual level of analysis Yet no research can sufficiently answer the question of how individual level culture may influence the effect of eWoM on purchase intention The present research addresses this gap by measuring espoused national cultural values of power distance uncertainty avoidance individualism collectivism and masculinity femininity at the individual level of analysis and investigating their influence on the effect of eWoM on purchase intention An experiment using a repeated measures design was conducted with 100 subjects from 18 countries The results reveal that as expected consumers purchase intentions are significantly higher after reading eWoM than after reading factual information on a company website Further the results show that contrary to expectations this effect is not significantly influenced by the national cultural values an individual espouses This implies that traditional market segmentations based on culture are of limited relevance in the online market place Theoretical and managerial implications are discussed
