Living with Grief Hospice Foundation of America, 2007 Grieving Beyond Gender Kenneth J. Doka, Terry L. Martin, 2011-01-19 Grieving Beyond Gender Understanding the Ways Men and Women Mourn is a revision of Men Don't Cry Women Do Transcending Gender Stereotypes of Grief In this work Doka and Martin elaborate on their conceptual model of styles or patterns of grieving a model that has generated both research and acceptance since the publication of the first edition in 1999 In that book as well as in this revision Doka and Martin explore the different ways that individuals grieve noting that gender is only one factor that affects an individual's style or pattern of grief The book differentiates intuitive grievers where the pattern is more affective from instrumental grievers who grieve in a more cognitive and behavioral way while noting other patterns that might be more blended or dissonant The model is firmly grounded in social science theory and research A particular strength of the work is the emphasis placed on the clinical implications of the model on the ways that different types of grievers might best be supported through individual counseling or group support Grief Michael Cholbi, 2022-01-18 An engaging and illuminating exploration of grief and why despite its intense pain it can also help us grow Experiencing grief at the death of a person we love or who matters to us as universal as it is painful is central to the human condition Surprisingly however philosophers have rarely examined grief in any depth In Grief Michael Cholbi presents a groundbreaking philosophical exploration of this complex emotional event offering valuable new insights about what grief is whom we grieve and how grief can ultimately lead us to a richer self understanding and a fuller realization of our humanity Drawing on psychology social science and literature as well as philosophy Cholbi explains that we grieve for the loss of those in whom our identities are invested including people we don't know personally but cherish anyway such as public figures Their deaths not only deprive us of worthwhile experiences they also disrupt our commitments and values Yet grief is something we should embrace rather than avoid an important part of a good and meaningful life The key to understanding this paradox Cholbi says is that grief offers us a unique and powerful opportunity to grow in self knowledge by fashioning a new identity Although grief can be tumultuous and disorienting it also reflects our distinctly human capacity to rationally adapt as the relationships we depend on evolve An original account of how grieving works and why it is so important Grief shows how the pain of this experience gives us a chance to deepen our relationships with others and ourselves Death and Bereavement Around the World John D Morgan, Stephen Palmer, Pittu Laungani, Dale A Lund, 2017-03-02 This final volume of Death and Bereavement Around the World reflects on some major themes death and after life religion and spirituality rites and rituals secularist approaches cultural variations suicide and other issues The first few chapters describe progress in end of life care including some new tools to evaluate hospice care chapter 1 what children know when they know it and how parents can respond to questions with some guidelines for support by schools chapter 2 the importance of ritual chapter 3 and gender differences in death customs around the world chapter 4 The transcript of a 1997 interview of John Jack Morgan by Pittu Laungani is presented as chapter 5 The following chapters discuss death systems and suicide chapter 6 HIV AIDS including the role of cultural and economic factors in the spread of the disease chapter 7 and grief and bereavement in the developing world taking the AIDS pandemic as a specific challenge chapter 8 Chapter 9 covers issues related to dying and death in Romania In chapter 10 the focus is on the various functions and uses of names in a cross cultural context Roadside memorials as a pivotal healing strategy are the topic of chapter 11 Chapters 12 and 13 focus on spiritual experience with loss The final chapter presents some conclusions and in the Epilogue Mary Ann Morgan honors the life career dying death and achievements of John Jack Morgan The Final Word includes the words of Pittu Laungani from a book published just weeks before his death in February 2007 This work is for anyone interested in or working in death and bereavement issues particularly academics educators librarians chaplains clergy funeral service directors hospice care providers and volunteers palliative care providers nurses immigration officers psychologists social workers psychotherapists and counselors especially bereavement counselors

Breaking the Social Taboo of Dying, Death and Grief. An Appeal to Institutions of the Social Work Field Lea-Sophie Hirschfeld,2022-08-25 Academic Paper from the year 2022 in the subject Social Work grade 15 language English abstract In my theory based thesis I will deal with the hypothesis Every person regardless of cognitive abilities is able to mourn to understand death and they should not be denied that A differentiated conclusion should be an appeal to social institutions in particular to break the taboo on the topics of dying death and grief and to show possible solutions for raising awareness with regard to work or dealing with people with cognitive disabilities and dealing with the end of life In the beginning I will explain the terms death and disability in context of their social taboo in order to then go into more detail about their connection and to emphasize the motive of the thesis This will be followed by a more extensive discussion which based on Piaget s stage model of cognitive development and Wittkowski s concept of death will use appropriate practical examples in the form of participatory observations to demonstrate that people with a wide range of cognitive abilities are capable of understanding death In addition I would like to discuss the extent to which personal fear of being confronted with death and possibly other factors motivate employees of social institutions and relatives to exercise the aforementioned reluctance towards the clients Among other things I would like to use Franke s work to justify the individual and social benefit of further taboo breaking Finally I will summarize my findings regarding the need for change in the attitude towards death in social work and show possible solutions Ultimately the thesis should serve as an appeal to the reader and in particular to social institutions to question the personal and professional handling of the topics of dying death and grief and invite them to deal with it more intensively in order to gain a more conscious approach and thus to be able to support people with cognitive disabilities in a more sensitive and individual manner

Understanding Your Grief Alan Wolfelt, 2004-02-01 Explaining the important difference between grief and mourning this book explores every mourner's need to acknowledge death and embrace the pain of loss Also explored are the many factors that make each person's grief unique and the many normal thoughts and feelings mourners might have Questions of spirituality and religion are addressed as well The rights of mourners to be compassionate with themselves to lean on others for help and to trust in their ability to heal are upheld Journaling sections encourage mourners to articulate their unique thoughts and feelings This replaces 1559590386
